SENATE MOVE FOR PEACE

Democrat Insists F. D. Act to Mediate in War

By GEORGE DURNO

International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Senator Johnson (D., Colorado), served formal notice in the Senate today he would move three-day recesses in the neutrality debate to give President Roosevelt an opportunity to make peace overtures to end Europe's war.

The Colorado Democrat at first actually made a motion from the Senate floor to begin the "peace" recesses. There was some question as to whether it was in order, Vice-President Garner ruling that it was.

War Aims Reaffirmed By Britain

LONDON, Oct. 9 (AP).—Prime Minister Chamberlain told Commons today that Britain and France were "in complete accord" as to the purposes of their participation in the European war, which they frequently expressed, and that any more specific statement of their war aims would be evolved through consultation of the two powers.

Chamberlain's statement was in reply to a question by Laborite Arthur Henderson, who asked "whether it is the policy of His Majesty's government to publish in due course of time and jointly with the French government a specific statement of war aims based on principles already enunciated."

"His Majesty's government and the French government are in complete accord as to the purposes for which they entered the war," Chamberlain replied. "These purposes have more than once been stated by both governments," he added. "No doubt as time goes on both governments will consider whether their war aims should be stated in more specific form."

ACT ONLY IN ACCORD

Chamberlain said that Henderson "may take it that any such statement will only be made by agreement between the two governments."

(The British government has said repeatedly that the principal aims of the war are to "crush Hitlerism" and "to free Europe from the menace of aggression." The restoration of Poland and Czechoslovakia also has been mentioned.) Eleanor Rathbone, independent, interposed in the discussion to inquire whether "the prime minister were aware there was a strong and growing demand in the country for a more specific statement on the government's war aims?"

There were several cries of "No," Chamberlain gave no answer.

GEARED FOR WAR
While the nation waited for the cabinet to frame a formal reply to Hitler's peace gestures, Britain kept her war preparations geared to a high pitch.

The British press continued to assail Hitler's proposals as "nebulous" and urged a policy barring peace "at the price of Poland."

EUROPE'S WAR (OR PEACE?) DEVELOPMENTS

WHILE diplomats maneuvered to reach some sort of peace parley, other developments in Europe pointed to continuation of the war. Germany and Russia began a large trade "swap," while Russia threatened Finland, standing firm, with Estonia and Latvia's fate. British downed a Nazi flying boat in the North Sea. Italy sought a pact with Yugoslavia and Hungary to dominate the Balkans. Germany hoped for Roosevelt intervention for sake of peace. French repulsed Nazi attacks on Western Front.

War Diary

39th Day

Behind the Front

Prime Minister Chamberlain told Commons today Britain and France were in complete accord as to purposes of participation in the European war. Premier Daladier of France announced he would speak tomorrow, presumably in reply to Hitler's peace terms. The squabble over neutrality was intensified in Washington, the while Massachusetts Senator Walsh declared the chances were 10 to 1 America would be dragged into the conflict unless profiteer-patriots were squelched. More Communists were purged in France where persistent rumors of peace or an armistice were heard. Finnish envoy left for Moscow, where he is expected to re-assert Finland's demands for freedom and neutrality. Berlin, meanwhile, looked for peace on two "fronts," pointing out that Hitler's hand was open to anyone who would clasp it in peace, and secondly in hope that President Roosevelt would step in as mediator.

In the Air—Renewal of aerial warfare between Germany and the Allies was anticipated today after London reported that a big German flying boat had been shot down in a battle with three British planes over the North Sea. A second Nazi flying boat sped away after its sister ship fell into the sea. A British ship rescued the crew and there were no casualties on either side. Also out of London came a report that three British planes had flown over the Siegfried lines taking pictures, sometimes at an altitude of only 100 feet.

On the Front—Although a lull had been expected on the Western Front pending replies to Hitler's peace overtures, there was new activity on both sides. German troops increased their pressure against French advance posts on the extreme northern flank. France claimed defeat of German bayonet attacks. Mammoth loud speakers roared parts of Hitler's speech to the French troops across No Man's Land.

On the Sea—It was reported today that the United States Navy and Coast Guard were hunting a mystery submarine reported off Maine, supposedly in the path of this country's troops. However, Washington reported that the ship was under substantial escort and no fears were expressed for her safe arrival. Another strange submarine was sighted off Key West, Fla.

HARVARD BURNS RED LEAFLETS

Harvard University authorities today swooped down on a score of students distributing Soviet propaganda to the University's dormitories, seized one student as ring-leader, and burned more than 5000 pamphlets purporting to justify the Soviet-Nazi alliance.

Later in the day the student charged with directing the pamphlet flood was taken before Arthur Durant, business manager of the University, who has jurisdiction in such cases, and was let off with a warning that a repetition of his offense would mean disciplinary action by the college.

"The next time, there will be action," Durant said.

The pamphlets, which were widely distributed through Lowell and Dunster Halls before the authorities caught up with the distributors, bore the imprint of the Harvard Young Communist League, and apparently emanated from the Boston Communist headquarters on Essex st.

Their seizure and the breaking up of the organization of students in the act of placing them before the doors of student suites came as a direct result, it was learned, of a quiet drive by the university authorities against student Communism.

Yard Watchmen Walter Kelly and Matthew Toohy, who broke up the demonstration and supervised burning of the pamphlets in the Lowell House furnace, had been warned to be on the lookout for such an occurrence.

Navy Trails Sub in Path Of Iroquois Off Maine

In the path of the American liner Iroquois, subject of a Nazi warning that she would be blown up, United States navy and Coast Guard vessels today hunted a foreign submarine off the Maine coast.

A navy plane was also reported at Portland to have taken up the search.

The submarine was sighted by Arthur Greenleaf, Maine State fisheries commissioner, and two of his wardens.

Warning of the foreign submarine's presence in Maine waters is understood to have been flashed to the Iroquois and to the navy vessels which picked her up at sea and are now escorting her to New York.

At 3 p. m. yesterday the navy vessels sent out to pick up the liner met her "somewhere on the Atlantic." According to navy officials the escort consists of four destroyers and a Coast Guard cutter.

Credence to the report of the submarine was strengthened by the earlier German warning that the Iroquois bearing 574 American war refugees from Europe, would be torpedoed or blown up before her arrival in an American port. Orders went out to track down the sea raider which twice previously has been sighted off the New England coast and several times on the offshore fishing banks.

Government officials, although secretive about plans, showed consternation when it was pointed out that the sub was in cruising distance of the returning American liner Iroquois, the vessel which Germany has warned would be sunk by the "same nation which blew up the Athenia."

EXPLAIN ACADIA DELAY

The U. S. Maritime Commission reported today that sailing of the Eastern Steamship liner Acadia from Dublin was being delayed in an effort to fill the ship's passenger list with Americans fleeing from Europe.

The Acadia was taken from the American inter-coastal trade and sent to Dublin for the specific purpose of returning Americans from the war zone.

The commission said there was no question of a naval convoy involved, and pointed out that the Shawnee, another coastal liner, also had reported difficulties in getting a full passenger list of refugees Americans.

Greenleaf and two wardens saw the undersized craft, half-submerged, pass within 50 feet of their motor cruiser five miles southeast of Portland lightship.

FIVE MILES OFF PORTLAND

Greenleaf said he first saw a white light approaching at high speed and a few minutes later, by the light of the moon, saw the 200-foot hull half-circle the fisheries craft.

The sub was painted gray and carried no running lights save for the white light amidships, above the water line and apparently attached to the conning tower.

At Portsmouth navy yard, officials stated that no American undersized craft had been anywhere near the position given by Greenleaf.

However, the Navy had an explanation for two subs sighted off Minot's Light. Boston police boats sped to investigate only to be told later that the Dragon and the Sea Lion, two new U. S. submarines, had been operating off Minot's.

Another Submarine,

2 Tankers Off Florida

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (INS)—The navy patrol has sighted another foreign submarine in American waters—20 miles off Key West, Fla.—the White House revealed today.

In addition to the submarine, two "non-American" tankers were observed in the general vicinity, White House secretary Stephen T. Early said.

Early explained he could not divulge the nationality of the submarines or tankers because that was military information and would constitute a violation of the neutrality Act.

MOTHER'S DAY AUTO DEATH TOLD IN COURT

How death—with a screech of auto brakes—swept down a Brighton victim on his way to a Mother's Day family reunion was described by an eyewitness in Suffolk Superior Court today.

Testifying for the government against Edward Murphy, 48, of Seaside ave., Brookline, on trial for manslaughter, Edward A. Keenan, of Market st., Brighton, told the court:

"I was starting to cross the street when an auto, going 40 or 50 miles an hour, came zigzagging along the wrong side of the road.

SAW VICTIM HURLED

"I jumped for my life and landed sprawling on the sidewalk. Before I could get to my feet again, I heard a screech of brakes and I saw the auto hit a man who was standing at a bus stop near the corner of Market and Elmira sts.

"The man was knocked through the air. His body landed limp in the street. I got the first two numbers of the death car's registration plate. They were '1-1'."

In his opening for the government, Asst. Dist. Atty. William J. Sullivan had named the victim as David W. Flansburgh, 47, married, of Saunderson pl., Brighton.

At the time he was killed, May 13, of this year, Flansburgh was waiting for a bus to take him to his mother's home, where he planned to celebrate Mother's Day, according to Sullivan.

Police who investigated, arrested Murphy, the defendant in today's trial. He allegedly denied having operated the death auto.

Charges against him today included manslaughter, speeding, reckless driving, leaving the scene of a fatal accident and other violations of the auto laws.

More than 25 government witnesses were sworn, many of them women. Murphy waived his right to a jury and went on trial before Judge Paul G. Kirk.

Among the girl witnesses were Miss Ruth O'Gorman, and Janet Pinkham, both of Newton Highlands.

Finnish Ship Sends SOS

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 9 (AP)—Danish radio stations picked up an SOS today from the 2026-ton Finnish steamer Indra, owned by the Naustik Steamship Co., Ltd., Aabo. The message said only "SOS mine," after which nothing was heard.

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 9 (AP)—An unidentified freighter was reported to have struck a mine north of the island of Terschelling today. Two Dutch vessels were said to have gone to the rescue. One report said the freighter probably was a Finnish vessel.

Work Week to Be Cut to 42 Hours

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (INS)—In answer to numerous inquiries, Wage-Hour Administrator Elmer F. Andrews announced that for any work week beginning before Oct. 24, overtime under the fair labor standards act must be paid only if more than 44 hours are worked.

Under the law, the work week for which straight time may be paid is automatically reduced from 44 hours to 42 hours, effective midnight, Oct. 23, Andrews said.

NAZI WEST FRONT BOMBS 'VERBAL'

By MERRILL MUELLER

International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, Oct. 9 (INS)—German troops lined up in the forbidding Westwall opposite the Maginot line today began using a trick developed during the Spanish war—employing gigantic loud speakers at the front lines.

With these mammoth instruments, the Germans are able to hurl verbal bombs at their enemies along with shells from their heavy guns.

This morning the loud-speaker barrage opened at various points along the Western Front with choice selections, passages re-broadcast from Hitler's "peace speech."

Passages which the Germans particularly wanted the French poilus to hear went rumbling over the No Man's Land in both German and French.

MISS NO BETS

It appeared that the Germans were determined to miss no bets and that they wanted their own men to "inwardly digest" certain passages of the speech along with the French.

This wrinkle was not the only development along the western front or in the European "war of words" today.

International News Service learned that the artillery and infantry action now in progress on the front is the heaviest this conflict has seen so far.

The Germans, it was revealed, have used more than a full company of troops in each of their last three raids—each of which, according to the French, was repulsed.

BIG GUNS BOOMING

Artillery fire now booming at the front can now, for the first time, accurately be described as "counter-battery fire"—artillery duels in which the batteries of opposing sides are seeking to "liquidate" each other.

Heretofore the artillery action, especially Germany's, has been sporadic and directed principally against the opposing front lines.

Starting yesterday the blasts from the big guns became more intense, more systematic and more concentrated. The Germans sought out the French batteries as well as the front lines, especially east of the Moselle.

The action, however, does not yet extend beyond the battery zone and it would be an exaggeration to call the activity immediate preparation for a real offensive as yet. It is skill, rather, in the exploratory stage, but the exploration con-

Swiss Flee Villages As Germans Mass

PARIS, Oct. 9 (INS)—The Swiss correspondent of the newspaper Le Matin today reported "very large" German troop concentrations along the German bank of the Rhine from Lake Constance to Basel.

The report said all Swiss villages and towns in the area were being evacuated to a depth of about 15 miles.

(Editor's note: If substantiated, this dispatch is highly significant, since it might indicate the Germans are planning to swing around the lower end of the Maginot line in an assault of the "blitzkrieg" variety against France.)

Down 'Air U-Boat'

LONDON, Oct. 9 (INS)—A big German flying boat was shot down in a battle between three British planes and two Nazi sea-planes over the North Sea, it was announced tonight.

The second Nazi flying boat sped away after its sister ship fell into the sea, according to the official British communiqué.

The crew of the German military seaplane was rescued by a British surface vessel which was guided by one of the British fighters to the scene where the Germans were clinging to the wreckage of their craft.

Disclosure of this engagement first of its kind in the five-week-old war—gave rise to the belief the German plane may have been one of Adolf Hitler's mystery fleet of "U-boats of the sky."

It was thought possible the German craft, belonging to a type reputedly capable of flying some 2000 miles with heavy bomb loads, may have been en route to attack British naval vessels or merchant ships when she was intercepted.

A Ministry of Information communiqué, telling of the battle, stated:

"A Royal air force reconnaissance aircraft patrol over the North Sea encountered a flying boat of the German air force today. A combat took place. The German flying boat was shot down."

"After the combat, the pilot of one of the RAF aircraft saw the German crew in the sea, clinging to the wreckage of the flying boat. A ship in the vicinity was directed to the rescue. Our aircraft resumed the patrol."

Truce Rumors Flood Paris; Diplomats Busy

PARIS, Oct. 9 (INS)—While every shred of evidence and every concrete development pointed toward merciless prosecution of hostilities by Great Britain and France, persistent rumors circulated in Paris today that some sort of armistice or temporary truce is in the making.

The rumors are passed along simply because they were heard on all sides.

Diplomatic activity on a tremendous scale is under way. Of that there is no question. But reports of its progress and direction are so nebulous and contradictory that it is difficult to detect the main currents.

As warfare was intensified on the Saar front, chief interest in Paris centered on the drive against the Communist party. Sixteen former Communist members of the Chamber of Deputies already have been arrested.

WALSH WARNS 'IT'S 10 TO 1 PLOT WILL GET U. S. IN WAR'

Because of "powerfully organized groups" the odds today are 10 to 1 that the United States will be drawn into the war, U. S. Sen. David I. Walsh asserted today at his home in Clinton.

"Depressing, shocking as this view may seem," said the Senator, "it is a true picture of the situation at Washington today."

He expressed himself as shocked at what he has found in the capital since the controversy began over repeal of the arms embargo provision of the neutrality act.

"I know my statement will be surprising and amazing to many," he said, "but powerfully organized groups are working at Washington to get us into the war because they want us in for their own advantage and profit."

WARNS PUBLIC TO ACT

He warned that the great majority of people in this country, who do not want war, will be overwhelmed by the pro-war groups unless organization is effected quickly.

Only through continued agitation, he said, and making the full force of their opinion felt in Congress and the White House, can the war-hating majority prevent active entrance of the United States into the European war.

"There is no reason or excuse whatever for the United States going to war," Senator Walsh said.

"The vast majority, however, is not organized, whereas the groups of which I speak are very well organized, well entrenched."

LESSON FROM GRAVES

"They will seek to magnify or distort international incidents and issues to make it appear that we must go to war to protect our own interests; they are already seeking to influence, to inflame public opinion, to make the country war-minded."

"Please God, they will fail! Surely the lessons of the last war are still to be seen in the graves, here and in France, in the living dead in our hospitals and mental asylums, in our debt and taxes, our high cost of living."

"Surely we must know there is no profit in war for individual, for business or for country."

"But these pro-war groups are attempting to make us forget or ignore all these terrible lessons. Short-sighted, they see some temporary advantage to themselves at the expense of the country and our young people."

'VIGILANCE NECESSARY'

"But I repeat, they will prevail and we will be in this war unless every person in this country who does not want war takes every possible step, day in and day out, while this crisis is before us, to show the executives and the Congress that this country does not want war and will not have the United States go to war."

"Only by that eternal vigilance which is necessary to maintain liberty, plus organization of the majority, can we prevent these minority but very powerful groups from dragging us to war."

"I ask support for those of us at Washington who are fighting the insidious influence of these pro-war interests."

"We must not fail!"

Finns Go to Moscow To Fight Reds' Grab

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 9 (AP)—Dr. Juhani Paasikivi, Finland's heavy-set, stern-looking minister to Sweden, was expected to carry the hopes of his freedom-loving countrymen to Moscow tonight to meet the Soviet giant, which in less than a month has absorbed part of one European republic and brought dark hours to three others.

Paasikivi, 69, who helped fix boundaries of the young Finnish republic in 1920 as chief delegate to the Russo-Finnish conference at Dorpat, will personally determine the independence of 4,000,000 Finns.

While government officials insisted no demands had been received from Moscow, many Finns were uneasy.

WHAT RUSSIANS ASKED

The Finnish foreign minister, Elias Erkko, reported as declining to make the trip, said in an interview with the Stockholm Dagbladet Nyheter:

"The only thing that happened is the Soviet government asked if the Finnish government was willing to exchange opinions about political and economic problems without mentioning what those problems are."

Erkko described this as "the normal procedure" and added the "Finnish government could not but say yes."

"Finland has declared in many ways and has made it clear the country wants to stand as a neutral and does not want to be directly bound through a pact to any group of big powers," the foreign minister was quoted as saying.

The northern countries watched with interest the sturdy little republic's moves. However, there was no confirmation of reports the Helsinki government had appealed to Sweden for diplomatic aid in anticipation of "excessive demands" from the Soviet.

RED TROOPS MASS

Also arousing interest in northern capitals was an announcement

BULLETIN

LONDON, Oct. 9 (INS)—The Swedish government has decided to spend $12,000,000 for increased naval aviation equipment, an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Stockholm said it was understood today. Sweden will obtain 102 airplanes—presumably from the United States—and 10 mine sweepers, the dispatch said.

from Riga that Germany would open negotiations with Latvia today or tomorrow for repatriation of persons of German blood residing in that country.

Several German transports, it was said, already had arrived at Libau, and Windau, Latvia, to return these citizens to the Reich.

Similar negotiations were reported pending with Estonia. Approximately 60,000 Germans in Latvia and 16,000 in Estonia are involved.

Meanwhile, it was said here 4000 Russian troops were concentrated on the Estonian border, ready to march in Tuesday to man naval and air bases Estonia recently granted the Soviets.

Nearly 16,000 more troops were scheduled to follow, and 20,000 were to go to support bases in Latvia.

WOULD AROUSE U. S.?

Agitation caused in northern countries by Dr. Paasikivi's impending visit was shown in an editorial in the Stockholm Svenska Dagbladet. It said:

"Moscow's designs on Finland are followed with the greatest interest in Sweden. The nature and extent of the Soviet demands from Finland are not known, but the Moscow authorities must remember Finland is not a mere border state, but a northern country whose entire history, politics and culture belong to the west."

"If the Soviet thinks she can treat Finland as she has the Baltic countries recently, it will arouse not only Scandinavia, but also the whole civilized world, and not least of all, the United States."

Finland has called up additional reservists for "extraordinary military service to strengthen the national neutrality."

REDS FLY BRITAIN AND FRANCE

MOSCOW, Oct. 9 (AP)—Soviet Russia threw her weight behind Adolf Hitler's peace gestures today in an editorial in the government newspaper Izvestia, accusing Great Britain and France of "returning to the middle ages" for waging war to "exterminate Hitlerism."

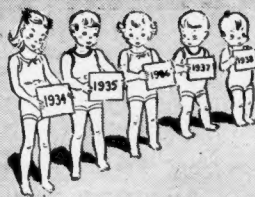

At the same time, it was announced Premier-Foreign Commis-sar Vyacheslav Molotov had reached a quick decision last night with leaders of a German trade legislation.

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Oct. 9 (AP)—Pope Pius XII received in audience today the Polish ambassador to the Holy See, Casimir Pappe.

The delegation arrived only yesterday to expedite stimulated trade between Russia and Germany under the recent formal trade and credit agreement between the Nazi-Communist partners. It was not specified what goods were involved.

Parents of 14 Sentenced in Wife-Swapping

LAPEER, Mich., Oct. 9 (AP)—Clarence June, 39, and Mrs. Mildred Davis, 26, two of the principals in Lapeer county's much publicized "wife swapping" case, were sentenced by Circuit Judge Louis C. Cramton today to serve six months in jail.

June's wife, Edith, 39, was placed on probation and Mrs. Davis' husband, George, 37, was fined $150 and ordered to pay $100 court costs. The four were convicted recently of immoral conduct. It was charged that they traded mates and divided their 14 children. Mrs. June has started suit for divorce. She and June have 10 children.

VEIL NAVY 'SPY' PLOT IN SECRET

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 9 (INS)—Behind a curtain of secrecy Naval Intelligence officers and counter espionage agents today pressed efforts to identify saboteurs said to have damaged the battleship Arizona.

No official statement was forthcoming concerning what occurred on the flagship, which was to put to sea again today for gunnery training.

Members of the engineering crew of the 33,000-ton dreadnaught, which mounts twelve 14-inch guns and carries a crew of 1,300, were not allowed to go ashore to visit their families before sailing.

According to well-informed sources at San Pedro, metal scraps were dropped into spring bearings, emery powder was thrown into a main engine bearing, lubricating oil was mixed with water in boiler tanks and 150 gallons of lubricating oil was emptied into the bilges from leaking pipes.

J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, announced in San Francisco he was coming to Los Angeles with five special agents to take personal charge of the investigation.

Hoover said that until the probe was completed he was not characterizing the damage as sabotage.

Lowell Mayoral Candidate Is Jailed as Tipsy

LOWELL, Oct. 9 (AP)—Frank Kennedy, 49-year-old bricklayer and candidate for Mayor in tomorrow's primary, won't be able to vote.

He was sent to East Cambridge jail today, after pleading innocent to a charge of drunkenness, after his arrest Saturday night as he made a campaign speech.

He was jailed when he was unable to post $1000 bonds. The case was continued indefinitely.

Italian Paper Blasts Nazis' Soviet Allies

ROME, Oct. 9 (AP)—The newspaper Il Corriere Padano, owned by Air Marshal Italo Balbo, governor of Libya, declared today in an editorial the Fascists were "born anti-Communist and are determined so to remain."

The editorial, signed by Nello Guicci, was interpreted as a rebuke to Italian papers that praised Soviet Russia in the new German-Russian partnership.

Il Corriere demanded: "Not a gram of esteem, not an ounce of sympathy for the Bolsheviki."

"For us they are and always will be tragic clowns, professional frauds, models of coarse bestiality and living monsters in the service of the most lunatic, infamous degradation that universal history records."

Il Corriere objected especially to a sympathetic sketch of Marshal Klement E. Voroshiloff, Soviet war commissar, in a Rome magazine.

Labeling Voroshiloff "a sinister personage," the paper accused him of complicity in "felonious massacres, executions and horrible, wholesale carnage in accordance with his own whims or those of his master."

BARES RED PLOT TO RULE ROTC

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (INS)—The Dies committee today was told that young Communists were urged to join the Reserve Officers' Training Corps in an effort to "oust reactionary officers."

The testimony was given by youthful Kenneth Goff of Delavan, Wis., who read into the records what he said comprised a set of instructions to Communist youths. After urging Communists to join the R. O. T. C., the instructions read:

"We must liquidate the ROTC as an instrument of reaction." The instructions also pointed out that military training "can be of inestimable value to the masses."

Goff took the stand to announce his resignation from the Communist Party and testify on his activities in Communist "front" organizations.

Goff, for two years a member of the National Committee of the Young Communist League, said he had made his decision last week to break with the party and to do all in his power to expose it.

The committee then heard read Goff's resignation which he said he was forwarding today to the Communist Party and the Young Communist League.

Wagner Act Ruling Nears

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (INS)—The Supreme Court today paved the way for a far-reaching Wagner act decision when it decided to review the Pacific Coast longshoremen's case.

The petition for review was sought by the American Federation of Labor, charging that the National Labor Relations Board had effectively destroyed its longshoremen's unions from Seattle to the Mexican border.

The controversy arose when the labor board certified the CIO International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, headed by fiery Harry Bridges, as sole bargaining agent on the Pacific Coast for longshoremen.

The case was appealed upon the primary legal point that the District of Columbia Court of Appeals erred in dismissing the suit on the ground that the board order was not reviewable.

AFL Parley Ready to Vote

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 9 (INS)—The real business of the 59th annual convention of the American Federation of Labor begins today.

After a week of speech-making, of committee meetings and lobby conferences, delegates today prepared to vote their sentiments on a number of important propositions.

The convention in the next week will take a position on neutrality, on the New Deal and President Roosevelt, on the CIO, the National Labor Relations Board and the Department of Justice investigation of the building trades.

700,000 In Week-End World's Fair Rush

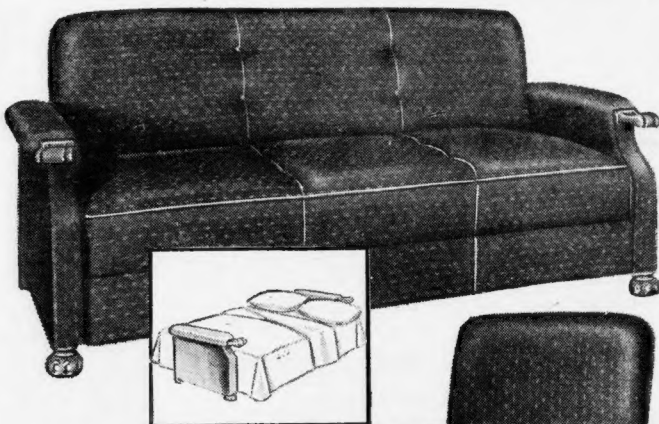

NEW YORK, Oct. 9 (AP)—The rush to see the New York World's Fair before it closes Oct. 31 gained in momentum over the week-end as close to 700,000 persons passed through the gates. At 10 p. m. the Sunday total was 346,190 paid admissions, third best of the season. A Saturday record was set at 326,632.

At last we've found the solution for those who want a smartly styled living room set that makes into a really comfortable bed.

The sofa bedset illustrated is extremely simple to change over from living room to bedroom.

At night the back drops down with one simple easy motion, forming a completely level full sized bed. There is no separation or division and two people can sleep with equal comfort since both seat and back cushions contain individual innerspring mattresses. Contrary to ordinary studio couches you sleep at full bed height from the floor. During the day store away your bedding in the roomy double compartment in the base of the couch.

All three pieces illustrated are included—the sofa bed, the matching lounge chair, and the contrasting channel back wing chair.

Choose your own colors in rich plain or figured colonial tapestries from wine, blue, rust, brown or green. Frames finished in choice of mahogany or maple.

Goodwin Hits Paying Of Fake Auto Claims

Insurance companies are "handing out the people's money on fake and exaggerated claims with a lavish hand," Registrar of Motor Vehicles Frank A. Goodwin charged today in comment on the tentative schedule of automobile rates for the next year.

"In this one state where there is compulsory insurance the companies do not want the record to be good, because they do not want compulsory insurance to spread into other states," added the registrar.

Goodwin said he agreed with the action of Charles F. J. Harrington, the state insurance commissioner, in abolishing the previous distinction made in rates between light cars and heavy cars.

"I have urged for years the elimination of any difference," he said. "A light car will kill a man as quickly as a heavy car."

The 1940 rate schedule would leave the general rate level about the same as at present, the registrar said.

"It is most extraordinary," he added, "that notwithstanding the continued downward trend of accidents the losses alleged to have been paid out by insurance companies continue as high as ever."

"I realize that rates are based on mathematical factors, but I think it is about time someone investigated the mathematicians. I am satisfied that notwithstanding the continued trend of reduced accidents, the insurance companies are handing out the people's money on fake and exaggerated claims with a lavish hand."

The charm and beauty of Swedish moderne furniture lies in its rich simplicity. Home decorators everywhere agree that Swedish moderne is destined to take the country by storm, because of its easy adaptability to any type of home and because of the cheer and color it brings to your bedroom.

Summerfield's is justly proud of the bedroom illustrated. Notice the large richly beveled plate glass mirrors, the unusual drawer pulls, the graceful simple lines, the blonde glowing beauty of the costly Prima Vera (blonde mahogany) veneers.

The set is sturdily constructed, too, with oak drawer interiors and dust-proof construction for years of wear.

Three pieces are included at the sale price—the generous sized dresser, the full sized bed and the tall graceful chest of drawers.

Kneehole table top vanity with large beveled plate glass mirror, $29.95 additional, if desired.

HOLD MAN IN WIFE ATTACK

Charged with assault with a dangerous weapon on his wife, Frances Johnson, 35, of Somerville ave., Edward A. Johnson, 43, waived examination in Somerville court today and was held in $1500 for the longer term of the grand jury. Found with a knife wound in her leg in a Union sq. doorway, Mrs. Johnson was taken by Officers John J. Brennan, who made the discovery, William E. Johnson and George H. Strangman to the Somerville Hospital. Police said that the couple are the parents of seven children. Four hours after Mrs. Johnson was found in the doorway, Sergeant LeRoy V. Pierce took her husband into custody for questioning. Police stated that husband and wife told conflicting stories of the stabbing fray. Johnson, when taken into custody, denied any assault whatsoever upon his wife.

BERGDOLL'S FAMILY OF 7 VISITS HIM AT PRISON

NEW YORK, Oct. 9 (INS)—Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, convicted World War draft dodger, received his first visit from his family since a court-martial last week sentenced him to three years at hard labor as a deserter, in addition to the five-year term already imposed for draft dodging. The wealthy Philadelphia's mother, Emma, his wife, Bertha, two children, Emma and Bobby, and three cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hall and Miss Barbara Hall, composed the party, which stayed on Governor's Island for two hours, after having driven here from Philadelphia.

After it had been announced the Adams Show Manufacturing Co. of Webster had paid $3000 in fines levied against it Sept. 11 and due today, Judge Hugh D. McLellan today said he would therefore make an additional fine of $1 on the other 44 combined accounts against the company. President Joseph Sterin of the company, on Sept. 11, had pleaded guilty for the corporation to charges of violating the wages and hour act. In federal court, besides the fine on the company, Sterin was fined $500; George Gootman $500 and Harry Miller $1000.

Chandler Resigns, Named to Senate

FRANKFORT, Ky., Oct. 9 (AP)—Gov. A. B. "Happy" Chandler resigned today and was succeeded by Lieut.-Gov. Keren Johnson who immediately appointed Chandler to the United States Senate, succeeding the late M. M. Logan. In brief ceremonies in the governor's private office, Chandler, whose term would have expired Dec. 12, signed his resignation. A few minutes later Johnson, who is the Democratic nominee for governor in the November election, was sworn in as governor.

Judge Tells 300 New Citizens To Be Loyal

In view of what is happening in Europe today, new citizens will have ample opportunity to demonstrate their loyalty to America, Judge Ellisha M. Brewster told over 300 new naturalized citizens in federal court today. "You are now severing political ties with the countries from which you came," Judge Brewster said as he administered the oath of allegiance. "You are assuming new obligations. Be good citizens."

4 Groups Row Over Winthrop Rail Plan

At a heated conference in Governor Saltonstall's office today, Winthrop selectmen accused the town's special transportation committee of putting across a "bum deal" on the people of the town in connection with the legislative act to provide Boston Elevated service as a substitute for the Boston, Revere Beach & Lynn Railroad service.

In the presence of the Governor the selectmen charged that the cost of Elevated service would be too great.

Some of those who attended the conference nearly came to blows, it was revealed.

Winthrop voters will meet tonight at a special town meeting to decide whether they will accept the act. The widespread split in the town over the issue was revealed by the governor today after he conferred with four groups, representing the transportation committee of the town, the selectmen, the 219 employees of the Narrow Gauge and the bondholders of the road which is bankrupt.

Representatives of the transportation committee hotly defended their course of action, while spokesmen for the employees told the governor they were left "holding the bag" as the Elevated officials can place only 24 of their number in the Elevated takes over the road.

The bondholders' representatives told the governor they would have no cash to operate the Narrow Gauge after Dec. 1.

"I told the gentlemen from Winthrop that I recommended the legislation which was passed in good faith on suggestion of the transportation committee of the town," the governor said.

Norwegian Quake Mistaken for Bombs

KRISTIANSAND, Norway, Oct. 9 (AP)—An earthquake shook southern Norway with such rumbling roars today that the light-house keeper at Okseø thought mines were exploding. No damage was reported.

Scientists said the quake was part of a long readjustment which began some 10,000 years ago.

'GHOST TOWN' FAMILY STILL HOLDING FORT

"Alone, Alone—All, All Alone..." But unlike the mournful "Auctioneer" of Foot Sam Coleridge the Hennessey family are tickled to death with their solitude—even to the point of defying the U. S. government to take it away from them.

So today they cling tenaciously to their home in the midst of a deserted village in Mission Hill housing project, even though 679 families that were their neighbors long since have departed.

They are James G. Hennessey, 29, his wife, Mary, 27, and their two sons, James, Jr., five, and Joseph, three.

Thus far they have circumvented every attempt to get them out of their "ghost town" home at 3 Racine pl. They like it—quiet and all—and are going to stay.

Hennessey told reporters he is on WPA but has been employed only the last two weeks at a $12 weekly wage.

When seen he was tinkering with a 1930 "Divver" which he said he had insured last January when his economic condition was better, and which he claimed "doesn't cost anything to run."

Since receiving his notice on June 1 he has tried to find another place, Hennessey said, but nowhere was he able to find a rent for less than $15 a month, which he says he cannot pay.

A painter by trade, Hennessey says he is willing to move if the Housing Authorities can find him a place and move him.

The Hennessey home is on the first floor of a "three-decker." The two other families who lived there moved long ago, along with the 679 families in the neighborhood who were forced to seek new homes when the housing project got under way last spring.

Roxbury police fear for the safety of the Hennesseys, as dozens of fires have been set by children in the abandoned houses in the deserted area, all of which are windowless and stripped of fixtures and fittings.

The Hennesseys' water supply was cut off recently when someone removed a section of pipe leading to their home from the sired main, but Hennessey, a painter, rigged up a hose connecting with a deserted house, from which they draw their water.

The electric lights are still on, and at night the windows of the Hennessey home weirdly reflect the only illumination in the entire area of bleak, deserted houses extending for three city blocks in one direction and five in another, bounded by Worthington, Ward, Parker and Smith sts.

Having the entire neighborhood to themselves to play in, the Hennessey boys apparently enjoy their isolation, romping happily in the midst of desolation.

Senate May Induce F.D. to Mediate War

moves by the President in his address to the Senate.

"This is an opportune time for peace maneuvers to be made by our President," Johnson said. "Many of us feel that those efforts should be made now."

"There seems to be an unanimous opinion that America should keep out of this war, and there's one sure way to keep out—that is to stop the war. That's the only absolute, the only one hundred per cent safe way."

SEES WAR AS PERIL

Johnson explained that so long as the war continues all neutrals— anxious as they are to stay out— have a public interest in the conflict. He continued:

"It is significant, it seems to me, that one of the so-called aggressive nations has suggested that the President of the United States make a move toward stopping the war, and should act as a mediator."

"Since Chancellor Hitler's speech to the Reichstag last week that speech has been interpreted in dispatches from Germany—not denied—that this move would be welcomed."

"It wouldn't have greatly surprised me had such a suggestion come from Mr. Stalin or the Emperor of Japan, or some European neutral, but it does surprise me that a suggestion for President Roosevelt to act in behalf of peace should come from Germany. It seems to me that this is very significant."

Majority Leader Barkley said he had no objection to a Senate vote on the question brought up by Johnson.

ROOSEVELT SILENT

Meanwhile, the President, after his return to the White House from a week-end at Hyde Park, maintained a studied silence on Berlin peace overtures, obviously awaiting some formal move by either Germany or the Allied powers toward an armistice.

Stephen T. Early, the President's secretary, pointed out at his press conference today that nothing official had been received regarding peace proposals from Germany, France or England.

Early said, therefore, there could be no official White House comment.

In view of the statement on Capitol Hill, it was believed possible a clarification of the White House's attitude toward Hitler's obvious bid to make President Roosevelt a mediator in Europe's war might be forthcoming.

Early, however, pointed out that the suggestions came merely from anonymous sources in Germany. He made his statement shortly after the President's train rolled into the capital from Hyde Park.

A determined bi-partisan minority meanwhile formulated amendments to liberalize the drastic shipping prohibitions of the administration arms embargo repeal neutrality bill.

Bucking leadership opposition by claiming powerful strength, this group opened a fight to reduce the loss to American shipping which experts said would result from the proposed bill's sections prohibiting U. S. boats from carrying any cargoes to belligerents or their possessions.

Senators George (D.) of Georgia, White (R.) of Maine, Adams (D.) of Colorado and Senate Commerce Committee Chairman Bailey (D.) of North Carolina formed the spearheads of this drive.

Senator Borah (R.) of Idaho, leader of the opposition force, supported the program which these senators put forward, with particular emphasis on West Coast shipping.

$10 Fines for 48 In Gaming Raid

TAUNTON, Oct. 9 (AP)—Forty-eight men arrested Saturday in a state police raid were fined $10 each today after they pleaded innocent in district court to charges of being present where gambling was conducted.

Two others were fined $20 each as second offenders, and the case of Patrick Donahue and Edward O'Hearne, accused of registering bets, were continued to Saturday. Twenty-four other men arrested in the raid failed to appear and bail of $10 each was ordered forfeited.

Sales Doubled On '40 Packard

Business of the Packard Motor Car Co. is now more than double the volume of a year ago, it was revealed today by M. M. Gilman, president and general manager.

The enthusiastic public acceptance of the new '40 models and a marked improvement in general business conditions have apparently combined for this upswing, he said.

"We are still not able to manufacture cars in volume sufficient to meet demand," he said. "Unfilled orders from distributors on Oct. 1 totaled 15,000. At the end of two months, inquiries on the new models last year they were 7000."

230 YEARS' SUPPLY OF HAIRPINS

Investigation by Patrick J. Moynihan, chairman of the State Commission of Administration and Finance, shows there is 230 years' supply of hairpins on hand in the Walter E. Fernald State School in Waltham, Governor Saltonstall said today.

The investigation further revealed that there is 15 years' supply of knitting needles at Wrentham State Hospital, according to the governor.

At Boston State Hospital an eight years' supply of dried peas is on the shelves, as well as a three years' supply of salt.

At Monson State Hospital the storage shelves under 75000 pairs of napkins, a ten years' supply while at Gardner State Hospital a 15-year supply of some linens is on hand.

Fernald State School has 1177 yards of khaki. Only 134 yards of the goods was used last year.

The governor said that every investigation he has issued orders that no more than two months' supply of anything shall be purchased in the future.

The governor said that no item is contemplated against those responsible for overstocking.

SOCIALITE FLIES TO INJURED MATE

Completing a speedy air voyage from New York, Mrs. B. Clark Boeckler, Boston and New York socialite, today was at the bedside of her critically ill husband in Lafayette Hospital, Arroya, Puerto Rico.

Mrs. Boeckler, former wife of Edwin A. Shuman of Marblehead, is soon to become a mother and plans have been made for her confinement at Lafayette Hospital.

where her husband lies with a possible fractured skull and broken legs.

Boeckler, in Puerto Rico on a business trip, was injured in an automobile crash Friday. His wife sped off at once to Miami and there boarded the Pan-American clipper for the island.

Mrs. Boeckler is the former Barbara Smyth, who made her debut before Boston society in 1923, following graduation from Oldfield School. That year she eloped with Shuman. Less than a year after the birth of their son, in 1931, they were divorced in Essex Probate Court.

Her engagement to Boeckler, a graduate of both Harvard and M. I. T., was announced in 1936.

Sighting a distress signal flying today from the Gloucester dragger Leretha, the Coast Guard patrol boat Thetis took off Ralph Buchanan of Exchange st., Gloucester, an ailing crew member.

Buchanan, according to a radio message received at Boston from Thetis, was suffering from pains in his left arm and chest. The Coast Guard craft said he would be taken to Vineyard Haven Marine Hospital.

The pickup was made about 100 miles east of Vineyard Haven and was only by chance, as the fishing craft has no radio.

Seven observers, including one woman, will keep watch at Harvard's Observatory at Oak Ridge, while scores of amateurs will train their homemade telescopes for the impending display.

Hope for the heavy meteor showers springs from the fact that tonight the earth's orbit should carry it through the path of the faint comet, "Giacobini-Zinner," which in the past has brought similar showers. In 1885, the earth passed through the comet's orbit and witnessed a rain of shooting stars, at times, amounting to as many as 400 a minute.

"We can't tell for sure how great the shower will be," Dr. Kleicher Watson, Harvard's meteor expert declared today.

He stated experts still could be wrong in estimating that a stream of celestial debris is ahead and behind a comet, a mistake which would make all calculations for numerous streaking stars in vain. Then, too, he disclosed, the earth is in competition with a planet, Jupiter, for the favors of "Giacobini-Zinner," for this other planet world exerts a strong magnetic pull of gravity, which may serve the small comet from its regular path. If Jupiter disturbs the comet's course enough, the earth may not cut through the debris at all.

Shooting stars are explained by astronomers as being the debris left by larger celestial bodies. These smaller particles, when they strike the earth's atmosphere are heated by the friction caused by the speed of their rush through the air. Their speed reaches some times as high as 150,000 miles an hour, astronomers believe, and at this speed they are heated white hot.

Laymen would be surprised, astronomers declared, at the minute particles which are our falling stars, are hardly larger than the head of a pin, but burn so brilliantly as they are pulled by gravity through the earth's atmosphere that they seem much larger.

Cushing Rites Set for Today

Funeral services for Dr. Harvey Williams Cushing, 70, Boston's world famous brain surgeon and author, and father-in-law of James Roosevelt, will be held at 2 p. m. today at Center Church in New Haven, Conn., where he died suddenly.

Rev. Sidney Lovett, Yale chaplain, and Rev. George Stewart of Stamford will officiate at the services, which are expected to be attended by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and other notables. The body will be removed to Cleveland, O., Dr. Cushing's birthplace, for burial.

Haverhill Police Wince Under Lashing by Mayor

HAVERHILL, Oct. 9—Haverhill policemen were warned today they must mend their ways, following a verbal lashing in which Mayor Albert W. Glynn branded them "the laughing stock of the state and a disgrace to the city."

In an unprecedented action, the mayor summoned 49 members of the force to city hall and let loose on them. He promised to get rid of all drunkards and told officers they no longer can "stand around on street corners talking to girls and neglecting their duties."

"A police department is any community's first line of defense and further breach of duty in this department is not going to be tolerated."

A Narrow Escape

Stern warnings to motorists to use greater care in driving on wet, leaf-strewn roads were issued by Motor Vehicle Registrar Goodwin today, after a week-end of auto accidents which claimed seven lives in New England.

Eleanor Mackenzie, 24, of Summer st., Everett, crushed beneath a car which overturned in Jackson, N. H., died in an ambulance in Newburyport as police were helping push her to a Boston hospital.

Lawrence Paul Lescarbois, 24, of Boylston st., Watertown, was killed when an auto rammed a tree in China, Me.

Innocent Tassinari, 71, of Broadway, Revere, died when struck by a machine as he was crossing American Legion Parkway at Hutchinson st., Revere.

John P. Moran, 25, formerly of Holyoke, was killed in a Middle-town, Ct. crash. Hli by a car near Alfred, Me. Leo Fortier, 20, of Saco, Me. was killed.

Peter Burrisseau, 78, inmate of the Springfield City Home, was fatally injured by an auto as he was crossing the Holyoke highway in West Springfield.

In Providence, Mrs. Nellie J. Sperr, 72, died as the result of a freak accident in which she was run down by a backing car, according to police. Olive D. Kelley, 18, socially prominent daughter of A. Livingston Kelley, was charged with driving so as to endanger and held for trial on Oct. 27.

N. E. Listeners Fight Coughlin Radio Ban

Many New Englanders today were joined in protest against the radio ruling which next Sunday will bar Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, foremost of the "stay-out-of-war" exponents, in his national weekly broadcast.

Even as the radio priest was driving home his arguments against repeal of the United States arms embargo, 300 men and women were picketing the offices of the Colonial Network on Brookline ave. Back Bay, with placards reading, "United Front: Freedom of the Air and Free Speech" and "For Christian America Against Godless Moscow."

As crowds hurried to the scene they cheered Father Coughlin's current bid for peace, transmitted through a portable radio carried by a woman picketer.

Father Coughlin declared that the neutrality law, since its passage, was working for the purposes for which it had been enacted—to prevent the sale of arms to belligerent nations for profit.

"There is our humanitarian sentiment," Father Coughlin said, "against selling for profit arms with which warring countries may destroy each other. Shall our nation, with its professions of peace and Christian principles, manufacture and sell for gain those things which cause other men to destroy each other?"

"The embargo law has worked. Its prime objects are being carried out. Arms are not being sold to warring nations for profit."

"But the munitions manufacturers want repeal of this law. They want repeal because the law prevents them from making a profit. They seek repeal because the law is working too well."

Dept. Commr. A. Richard Zuck of the Disabled American Veterans last night voiced a plea to keep this country free of entanglements at a testimonial dinner for Commr. Albert V. Meltzer of the Jewish War Veterans at the Parker House.

At the same time the non-partisan neutrality committee of New England, comprising business and professional leaders, sent out this warning to New England Senators:

"The American people are in no mood to allow any trifling with the peace and well-being for the temporary advantage of any political faction or party."

Girl in Collapse, Held for Observation

An 18-year-old girl who collapsed in Massachusetts station of the Boston Elevated was identified by Boston and Cambridge police today as Margaret Conneaney, 18, of Second st., Cambridge.

After several hours, police and City Hospital officials were able, from mumbled names and addresses, to piece together enough information to trace her identity. Physicians said they could not immediately determine the cause of her collapse and she was ordered held for observation.

6 Cities Nominate Mayors Tomorrow

Voters go to the polls tomorrow to nominate mayors in six Massachusetts cities, Medford, Lowell, Springfield, Worcester, Westfield and Marlboro.

Present chief executives seek re-nomination in all save Lowell, where Mayor Dewey G. Archambault, two-time mayoralty winner, will not seek a third term.

Party lines have been drawn in Medford for the first time in many campaigns. Mayor John C. Carr, elected as a non-partisan, is unopposed for the Democratic nomination.

MANY CANDIDATES

For the Republican nomination there are two candidates, former Mayor John J. Irwin and Rep. Robert P. Campbell.

In Lowell, two former mayors,

State Senator Thomas H. Braden and George H. Brown, are among four candidates for the Republican nomination. The others are Winfred C. MacBryne, former federal prohibition agent, and Albert Hogue, former city purchasing agent.

Candidates in the Democratic primary are Rep. George T. Ashe, former City Councilor Robert R. Thomas, George Legrand, former superintendent of streets; Fred H. Rourke, former city treasurer; former Mayor Thomas J. Corbett and John J. O'Rourke, a disabled war veteran.

In Marlboro, Mayor Louis F. Ingalls is in the field with six other candidates for one of the two nominations. The others are former Mayor Charles A. Lyons, Mrs. Helen Nielsen, Thomas M. McManus, Arthur Rougeau, Andrew Colaschio and Myron J. Marshall.

In Springfield, Mayor Roger L. Putnam is opposed for the Democratic nomination by Atty. Michael W. Albano. Candidates in the Republican ranks are Donald M. MacCauley, former city solicitor; Alderman Howard Sanderson, and former Alderman Robert L. Hinchey.

GOVERNOR'S RIN

The two nominations in Westfield are sought by five candidates. They are Mayor Raymond H. Cowing, Councilor Charles F. Ely, brother of former Governor Joseph B. Ely; Councilor John F. Buschman; Landron C. Kellogg and Alice D. Burke.

At Worcester, Mayor William A. Bennett is opposed for the Republican nomination by Frank G. Phibbin.

Former Mayor John S. Sullivan, John M. Shea and George A. Wells are the contestants for the Democratic honor.

MURDER MYSTERY GOES 'COLD' OVER AIR

CHICAGO, Oct. 9 (INS).—When murder is perpetuated in Illinois, Chicagoans, by gum, want to know who did the dirty deed.

Radio station WBBM was broadcasting a twin feature murder mystery. The plot was harder to unravel than Hitler's latest peace proposal, although clues came faster than Cincinnati errors at the World Series.

Just as the intrepid detective Elery Queen was about to explode his denouement, the station's 50,000-watt transmitter failed. A water-cooling device at the Glenview transmitter had burst. While technicians labored to repair the damage, a corps of weary telephone operators attempted to explain to hundreds of listeners both the mystery of the transmitter failure, and who killed the victims.

P. S.—In case you were listening to the program, Mr. Wiggins was the murderer.

Asst. Atty.-Gen. Edward C. Proctor was due today to appear before the United States Supreme Court to argue the state's case against abandonment of 88 stations on the Old Colony, Boston and Providence, and New England railroads.

His contention was that the Massachusetts Public Utilities Commission has exclusive authority, in the absence of any orders from the Interstate Commerce Commission, to order abandonment of passenger service on railroads within the borders of the state.

Cooties Still In War Lead

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

We got word from our spy on the Western Front that the cooties are back again. We have instructed our spy not to take any prisoners.

The cooties outranked all generals in the World War because you had to salute 'em with both hands.

One of the earliest communiques in the A. E. F. read: Don't waste your time turning cooties on their backs because they have legs on both sides.

Nazis Admit Hitler Peace Plea Fell Flat

By PIERRE J. HUSS

International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, Oct. 9.—German government sources admitted reluctantly today that no concrete moves for peace had yet resulted from Hitler's initiative in his speech to the Reichstag, but hopes were still held that the current week may bring some satisfactory mediation.

Many individual voices are "crying in the wilderness" for peace, one authoritative spokesman said, and by the time the world has had a full opportunity to digest all the implications of Hitler's speech some definite move in behalf of an armistice may be forthcoming.

Germany saw Europe and the world divided into three schools of thought. One, headed by Germany and Soviet Russia and some smaller neutral nations, appeared to be all in favor of Hitler's plans.

ALLIES "NEGATIVE"

The second was characterized as "friendly for peace or war," and the third was labelled as "negative or nebulous," and in this category were placed England and France.

Meanwhile, negotiations went forward with Latvia and Estonia for resettlement of approximately 9000 German nationals in accordance with Hitler's proposals. The Germans being brought back aboard specially chartered ships will be settled largely in the former Polish corridor.

Diplomatic Correspondence, official organ of the German Foreign Office, said:

"Recall of German nationals from the Baltic countries results from the fact that people are needed for re-establishing German order in regained eastern territories."

In connection with Soviet Russia's series of pacts with the Baltic states, German officialdom took the view Russian relations with Latvia, Estonia, Lithuania and Finland "are no concern of the Reich."

GIVE CONSENT

The German nationals who are to be resettled from Latvia and Estonia have signified their fullest consent, authoritative quarters declared. After a life of uncertainty as to their fate in those countries, they know that within Germany they will find adequate employment.

It was emphasized that the resettlement is not due to arrangements made between Russia and Germany, but is part of a German plan. Furthermore, it is asserted, Germany, Latvia and Estonia, once having agreed to the step are doing everything in their power to complete resettlement at the earliest moment.

Special commissions in charge of the work will begin functioning within a few days, it was said.

NOT NAZI CONCERN

Concerning negotiations between Soviet Russia and Finland, a spokesman for the German foreign office said:

"Germany has no practical concern in these questions which are merely regulation of neighborly relations between Finland and Russia."

He added that as far as he knew,

French Riddle Nazi 'Don't Fire, Friends' Sign

PARIS, Oct. 9 (AP).—French troops reported today that Germans raised a huge sign over blockhouses on the Rhine near the town of Neuf Breulach which read: "French comrades, don't fire on your German friends." The report added: "Sign suffered greatly from French bullets."

Finland has made no request for help from Germany.

WAR MARKS TIME

Germany sought to minimize Europe's war as the government awaited Anglo-French reaction to the peace appeal.

A communique issued by the military general headquarters said merely:

"There were local scouting activities and weak artillery fire on both sides and minor air reconnoitering on the Western Front."

The press also emphasized peaceful pursuits, announcing the new Berlin subway, which has been under construction five and a half years, will open for traffic today.

Paris Accepts Wally's 'War Rest Home'

PARIS, Oct. 9 (AP).—The French government was understood today to have approved a plan of the Duchess of Windsor to establish a convalescent home for British officers in her Riviera chateau at Cap d'Antibes.

The Duchess, it was said, will pay all expenses for equipping the home and meet operation costs expected to amount to approximately $75,000.

The Duchess was believed to be planning to be hostess to the first group of British wounded.

On a recent trip to the Riviera she selected nurses for the home. The British army will supply physicians.

German Beheaded On Treason Charge

BERLIN, Oct. 9 (AP).—Herman Krueger, civil employe in Kreuz was beheaded today for treason.

He was convicted of divulging state secrets to an undisclosed foreign intelligence service which he allegedly contacted in 1934.

BULLETINS

TALLINN, Estonia, Oct. 9 (AP).—The steamships Oldenburg and Ulandshoern arrived here today to assist, it was reported, in transplanting German minorities now residing in Estonia. A German commission also was said to be en route here to discuss details of the repatriation program.

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 9 (INS).—Scandinavian residents of Latvia have decided that it is hopeless to remain in that country, now that Latvia has agreed to Soviet demands, and are returning to their homelands, according to Berlingske Tidende.

KAUNAS, Oct. 9 (INS).—Soviet Russia will agree to the cession of Vilna to Lithuania under conditions providing for a Soviet military garrison and a large measure of social and cultural autonomy, political circles here reported today. Vilna, the ancient capital of Lithuania, was lost to Poland several years ago.

It Pays Chinese Army To Win; Japs in Rout

HONGKONG, Oct. 9 (AP).—Chinese said today their forces were driving Japanese remnants toward the Honan-Hubei provincial border, the starting point of a Japanese drive against Changsha.

Dispatches from Changsha said the people were cheering when they considered a major Chinese victory. At Chungking, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek was said to have ordered distribution of a cash award equivalent to about $12,000 to the North Hunan army. An undisclosed additional amount was announced also by a private group as a "comfort" donation.

THE SEA RAIDERS

*Dramatic Story of War's Lone
Wolves of the Sea*

By FRED PERKINS

FIRED at point blank range, the sea raider's first shell exploded in the big British freighter's wireless cabin. The antenna mast toppled with a crash.

In menacingly clear English came the grim call from the German's deck:

"Lay to, or we'll sink you!"

A fat, untidy, unimpressive man, the freighter's captain was. And the fear of death was upon him. Yet he stood at his vessel's rail, looking into the muzzles of the raider's 30 rifles, two machine guns and four-inch artillery piece—and belloyed his defiance!

"Gun crew men to their posts," he roared.

Authority rang iron-like and indomitable in that voice. It halted the craven panic caused by the terrific impact of the shell-burst and by the bristling armament of the enemy ship.

Shame-faced, the freighter's seamen stood to attention, their rush to the lifeboats stopped halfway. The squad of marines assigned to handle the powerful five-inch gun on the Britisher's fore deck turned back toward their duty stations.

It looked like a fight. And a bloody fight!

But aboard the raider, the blonde, English-speaking giant was booming a new order:

"Clear torpedo tubes, fore and aft. Prepare to fire!"

Cold sweat now beaded the freighter captain's brow. He was a brave man and a stubborn one. But he knew what would happen if he was torpedoed. He could clearly visualize the loss of life below decks, the black gang trapped in their stoke hold, the engineers dying as the rush of waters reached the boilers.

The raider was hardly more than a biscuit-toss away. At that distance, no torpedo could miss.

On the other hand, the British skipper figured, one well-placed shot from his own five-inch gun would certainly either sink the German or at least give her trouble enough to divert her attention. Yet an empty triumph that would be for the freighter, if she received a torpedo in her vitals, meantime.

The stocky, florid-faced Britisher thought fast. Then, through clenched teeth he voiced a wise decision:

"Haul down our colors. We surrender."

The German raider to which he yielded his big freighter so reluctantly was Count Felix von Luckner's square-rigged sailing ship Seeadler.

SHE was an extraordinary vessel—commanded by an extraordinary man!

Born to the German nobility, Von Luckner ran away to sea as a boy, because his father wanted him to be a cavalryman.

Using an assumed name he roamed the world as a common jack tar, a foremast hand in steam and sail.

Between voyages he tried his hand at kangaroo hunting, prize fighting, wrestling, soldiering. He even served for a brief but educational period as a member of Mexican President Porfirio Diaz' palace guard.

Several heroic life-saving episodes in which he figured brought young Von Luckner to the personal attention of the German Kaiser.

And when Wilhelm II learned of the "good blood" of his new protégé he was delighted to see that Von Luckner should be properly trained as a naval officer and subsequently commissioned.

Having served valiantly in the German World War navy during a period which was climaxed by the battle of Jutland, Von Luckner was the man the Kaiser thought of first, when, in 1916, the German admiralty decided to renew its surface sea raider campaign against allied merchant shipping.

The vessel they gave von Luckner or his desperate venture was one that had been built at Glasgow for Nova Scotia owners, but had been transferred to United States ownership sometime during the opening years of the World War.

A British North Sea patrol ship stopped this Yankee clipper as a suspected blockade runner and put a crew aboard. Then, a little later, up popped a German U-boat and captured the American, plus the squad of Britishers.

Original name of the sailing ship was Pass of Balmaha. The German navy re-christened her Seeadler (Sea Eagle). She was a three-master, with a steel hull.

Von Luckner, with true German passion for detail, spared no pains to have the Seeadler appear outwardly a neutral merchant vessel while inwardly she preserved her new identity as a well-armed, well-manned sea raider.

Lumber was the Seeadler's ostensible cargo. Several thousand feet of "overflow" timber was piled on the dismasted raider's deck, covering up her hatches. Below those hatches was von Luckner's fighting crew, furnished with means of egress and ingress by hidden hatches cut in closet floors.

FOR the purpose of running the British blockade, the Seeadler was represented as Norwegian. Von Luckner went to Norway in the role of a dock roustabout in order to steal a bona fide Norwegian freighter's log.

He picked men for his deck crew who, like himself, could talk Norwegian.

Then he furnished each man with a batch of forged letters, purporting to come from relatives, friends or sweethearts in Norway. Norwegian tailor's labels and Norwegian laundry marks were placed on the clothing of crew and officers.

According to von Luckner's own post-war account of the Seeadler's refitting, he even went so far as to rig an officers' mess table like a huge elevator.

It was his plan, he explained, that if the Seeadler were captured by an Allied vessel and a prize crew put aboard him, he'd invite them all to an elaborate dinner, then lower them, table and all, to a hold, where the raider's armed personnel would make them prisoners.

As it turned out, the Seeadler was never cornered or taken by group. There a hurricane caught him, piling the Seeadler on a coral reef.

For a time, von Luckner ruled as uncrowned king of a sort of earthly paradise on the island, with his crew and the raider's prisoners as his willing subjects.

Then finally, von Luckner and five carefully picked companions provisioned and armed a 32-foot

VON LUCKNER—blessed with a never-say-die temperament—successfully engineered one escape, but was recaptured.

A showman at heart, Von Luckner toured the United States after the war, sponsored a book describing his adventures, and let no tale be spoiled in the telling for any mere trifling question of exact day or date.

Yet of Von Luckner, as of a famous pirate of an earlier age, it might justly be said:

"He was as mild-mannered a man as ever scuttled ship or cut a throat."

Certainly Count von Luckner cut no throats. It was long his boast that his sea raiding career was without casualties.

Yet he scuttled ships enough, as the Allies were woefully aware. One of his earlier victims was the British freighter commanded by the chunky skipper who forced his gun crew to their posts by sheer force of character.

It was typical of von Luckner that he won the surrender of the British captain by threat of torpedo, actually having none on the Seeadler.

Had the Britisher opened fire with his five-inch deck gun, he might well have blown the Seeadler out of water, von Luckner always said, as he told and retold the story.

Yet, if the torpedo bluff had failed, von Luckner was prepared to fight the British freighter with rifles and machine guns, he claimed.

Follow this thrilling, exclusive "Sea Raiders" series in TOMORROW'S Boston Evening American.

Seeadler . . . Wrecked on Coral Isle

the Allies. After destroying 11 cargo vessels on the Atlantic, Count von Luckner sailed his ship around the Horn to the Pacific—and sank three U. S. freighters there.

To give his crew a bit of much needed relaxation and to replenish the Seeadler's supply of foodstuffs, von Luckner visited a South Sea Island of the Society life boat from the Seeadler, and sailed it across more than 1000 miles of open ocean to the Fiji Islands.

It was their plan to buy or capture a sailing vessel and renew their commerce raiding. But the vigilant British nipped the plot in the bud and took Von Luckner and his associates prisoners.

KEEP U. S. OUT OF WAR —Be Neutral—

The following editorial, WHEN WILL THIS WAR END? is reprinted from the NEW YORK SUNDAY NEWS:

LIKE ALMOST EVERYBODY else, we have a theory as to how long the latest European war will last.

Before we go into that, however, we'd like to make this observation: The showdown between the airplane and the battleship began this past week, with the much disputed brush between some German bombers and some British fighting ships in the North Sea.

It should be made abundantly clear to the Allies that until this showdown is complete, and unless the battleship is found superior to the airplane, there will be not the shadow of a chance that another American expeditionary force will go to Europe.

If we should land such a force with all its equipment, and then have its Atlantic lines of communication sliced off by planes, what kind of fix would we be in?

As to our theory regarding the probable duration of this war, we think this war will end when the Allied statesmen abandon all hope of luring another A. E. F. to Europe.

We have no shadow of doubt that the Allied propaganda forces are already working on American public opinion. You have but to read between the lines of Allied utterances aimed at the United States, or listen between the lines to Allied radio broadcasts, to spot this propaganda.

The Allies naturally would try to drag us in. They have a tougher job on their hands this time than they had in 1914, what with Russia more or less teamed up with Germany, and Japan menacing Allied holdings in China this time instead of German.

AS WE SEE IT, the Allies have so tough a job on their hands that if it were not for their hope of eventual American help they would patch up some sort of truce just about now. The surest way to save democracy is not to plunge into a European war to save it, but to keep this country a strong citadel where democracy may take refuge if it is ruined abroad.

If this theory of ours is true, then the best contribution the United States can make toward peace is to kill off as quickly as possible all suspicion that it can be coaxed, sob-stuffed, bribed, bullied or shamed into this war.

Congress, now going through what promises to be a lengthy debate on what to do about the Neutrality Act, has a big opportunity, which we hope Congress will not miss. That opportunity is to make it abundantly clear, by reiteration and elaboration day in and day out, that this country has no intention to send another A. E. F. overseas.

If the Allied leaders can once get that thought through their heads, they may patch up a peace on a basis of status quo. They can't be sure of a better one if they fight seven years, and they may get a much worse one.

As long as hope remains in the Allied nations that we will join up again, they are likely to keep on slugging it out with Hitler. The windup will probably be the complete collapse of Europe, with Stalin and his buzzard crew presiding over the ruins.

WE CAN STAY OUT OF IT—and we'd better stay out of it, for a reason which not too many of us as yet understand.

If we send a second A. E. F. abroad, and use the Navy to guard our Atlantic troop transport lines, we shall be inviting the Japanese to open up on our West Coast. Just as the Allies are worse off than in 1914 for a war, so it would be more dangerous for us to join in another war in Europe.

As for those Americans who think we cannot stay out, that we shall "inevitably" be drawn in—The best answer to them, we think, was uttered by Senator Henry Cabot Lodge (Rep., Mass.) the day Hitler invaded Poland:

"It is our duty to stop this talk that we 'must' be drawn in, that we 'cannot' avoid it, that we must 'inevitably' come into any European war.

"If we say it often enough—if this fatalistic talk goes on—we will be drawn in . . .

"Instead of talking as though we were licked, we should stress the fact that we can stay out, that we should stay out, that we must stay out, and begin at once the devising of constructive measures to keep us out . . .

"Much as I want peace in Europe, I shall never, for this purpose, vote to sacrifice the life of one single American soldier."

That is the kind of thinking for us to do for the duration of this war. The more we concentrate on that kind of thinking, and the oftener and louder we repeat it to our Allied friends across the sea, the shorter this war ought to be. .

Mischief-Maker

I KNOW a certain little maid . . . who, at this moment I'm afraid . . . on mischief of some kind is bound . . . Best not leave breakables around . . . like Dresden china, glass and jade . . . when she once from restraint is free.

A merry mischief-maker, she . . . From morning until night you'll find . . . this little Miss to pranks inclined . . . till bedtime brings a welcome lull.

Yet, how much better thus to be . . . than like some little ones we see . . . with leaden hearts, lifeless and dull.

Paul T. Gilbert

March of Events -1- By BENJAMIN DeCASSERES

HAVE YOU NOTED how the latter-day war-makers of the world always contrive to save their own bacon while they leave the men in the ranks, the real fighters, to the tender mercies of the enemy?

President Azana, of the late Spanish "Republic," parked himself in Paris when danger threatened. Premier Negrin and his cabinet flew into France to surrender. Haile Selassie is enjoying himself in London and Paris. King Alfonso steps high while 700,000 of his countrymen sleep the sleep that knows no waking.

They all fight to the last private.

Here in America, Senator Key Pittman said recently that it was "evident that no person can die but once, and that it is far better to die a few days earlier for Christianity, justice and liberty than to live a little longer in cowardice and degeneracy."

This valiant fire-eater is long past the fighting age.

DAILY MENTAL HYGIENE for all Americans these days. Keep the wet towel of reason on your brain. Do not allow yourself to be over-emotionalized at the news from Europe.

Take nearly all the communiques, broadcasts and "bulletins" not with a grain of salt, but, in most cases, swallow a whole salt-cellar.

SENATOR KEY PITTMAN
"Past the Fighting Age"

Examine everything for propaganda—from both sides.

Do not let hysterical columnists and "holy war" liberals batter down your desire for peace in America. Remember, there is now war here and we have our own housework to do.

When you go to bed—SLEEP. That's what you are in bed for.

POLAND GAVE the world the Columbus of the Heavens—Nicolaus Copernicus, the greatest name in astronomy, which, it is quite likely, no one will ever challenge.

Copernicus was born in 1473 and died in 1543. He was thus, curiously, a contemporary of Columbus.

The Copernican system demonstrated that the earth revolved on its axis and that the planets moved around the Sun. This upset the system of Ptolemy, which held that all the stars, including our Sun, revolved around the Earth, which did not move.

I AM STILL reading that amazing book by Thomas Wolfe, "The Web and the Rock." It is full of thought-breeding matter and is Gargantuan in its descriptions of everyday things.

Here is Wolfe's description of man:

"Who is so great because he is so small, who is strong because he is so weak, who is so brave because he is so full of fear—man, that little match-flare in the darkness: man that little glittering candle-end of dateless time, who tries to give a purpose to eternity, man, that wasting and defeated tissue who will use the last breath of his lungs, the final beating of his heart, to launch his rockets against Saturn, to flash his meaning at unmindful stars!"

That is great poetry, uplifting, heroic.

If you are not reading "The Web and the Rock," you are missing one of the few great brain-thrills of the time.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt -1- MY DAY

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 9—I didn't have time to tell you Saturday of two things which I greatly rejoiced in San Francisco. First I paid a visit to the fair. The grounds are so beautiful, with flowers blooming and color and water used to make the scene esthetically satisfying at every turn.

I could not bear to miss the art exhibit here and enjoyed seeing some of my old friends from Italian galleries. There were many other famous paintings I had never seen before except in reproductions, so this was a delightful experience.

We also went through the part of the building which is given over to Pacific cultures. We enjoyed the Chinese and Japanese exhibitions and many of the interesting things from the Pacific Islands. Some of the northern islands have much work that is reminiscent of our own Eskimos in Alaska.

After seeing their exhibits, I wanted very much to revisit our American Indian courts in the Federal Building, for that made such a deep impression on me when I last was here, but time would not permit.

IN THE EVENING, we went into a room at the very top of our hotel and, from one of the windows, saw the lights of the fair grounds sparkling below us like so many brilliant jewels. A walk around this room gives you a beautiful view of the entire city at night.

Out of my room at the hotel yesterday morning, I stepped out on the balcony to view a lovely panorama. The clouds were rolling away, the bay lay below me and one white gleaming building stood out as the sun shone on it. San Francisco is a beautiful city.

TWO OLD FRIENDS, Mrs. Denman and Mrs. McCauley, came to see me. Then we went out to visit Mayris Chaney's hat shop, where I bought myself two winter hats. This is a new venture for her, but I think she ought to be successful. It is always fun buying things which you feel are made especially for you, and in a shop like this it can be done. Afterwards we took a hurried trip to Chinatown and went to Gump's especially to see the miniature silver display. Any child would fall in love with these exquisite copies of beautiful silver tea sets and full dinner services.

After lunch with James and some of his friends, he and I started back to Los Angeles by air. He had flown up in the morning to join me, which was very nice for it added a good deal of time to our visit.

It was pleasant yesterday afternoon to see some old friends, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Storm, who are now out here working with James for Mr. Goldwyn.

PRESIDENT THANKS
AL SMITH

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK, Oct. 9—Al Smith received a telegram of thanks from President Roosevelt after his broadcast in support of the President's neutrality bill. The wire was signed "Frank."

PAUL MELTSNER, the artist, took his model, Marcella, to the Versailles to listen to Sophie Tucker. Sophie was wearing a large diamond and ruby necklace, with bracelet and earrings to match. "Those are wonderful jewels," the model sighed. "I'll be a great day when I own jewelry like that." "Yes, it'll be a great day," the artist assured her. "It'll be known as the Day of the Great Tucker Robbery."

IN 1936 Herbert Farjeon wrote a song called "Even Hitler Had a Mother" for his London revue. The Lord Chamberlain banned the song, because it was insulting to the head of a friendly nation. Last year Farjeon tried it again—and then once more, in April of this year. But each time the Lord Chamberlain banned it. Now, however, official approval has been accorded the song, and all London is singing it.

JOHN STEINEBECK arrived in town recently. Jim Farley will represent the Federal Government when the North Beach Airport is opened October 15. Senator Mead is interfering with the State Department in behalf of the 400 American students at Scot universities who are stranded here without passports. Cab Calloway and Todd Duncan, who portrayed Porgy and Bess, will appear in "Little Joe," the new Lynn Root musical. For the first time in five years Paul Whiteman will return to the New York night-club scene. His band opens at the New Yorker Terrace Room Oct. 17.

A FEW MONTHS AGO Winston Churchill told some New York newspaper friends that he would not accept a post in a War Cabinet unless he was satisfied that Chamberlain meant to carry through a war to a finish. Lord Beaverbrook, in the Stork Club Friday night, stated that he did not expect Germany's first attack to be through Holland or Belgium. He said Hitler's first thrusts will be at Palestine and Asia Minor.

INTERNES at Mt. Sinai Hospital are searching for a patient who had been operated upon three days and who disappeared from his hospital room. He had had a throat operation and when he discovered that he wouldn't speak for three days the patient walked out. The patient is that silent man of the movies—Harpo Marx and he's joined Woolcott in Vermont.

SOPHIE TUCKER

in behalf of the 400 American students at Scot universities who are stranded here without passports.

MONDAY MORNING MUSINGS: Paul Vincent Carroll, the great Irish dramatist, has written a new play, "Kindred." . . . Politicians and merchants, says Mr. Carroll, have had their fling at running the world, and see what we have. . . . So the perfect "M-Day"—one of peace and goodwill and prosperity to all—will be brought about only by the rule of the artist. . . . But Mr. Carroll admits that that "M-Day" is not at hand. . . . No more is the day in the near future when Ideas voiced in this weekly pillar of personal prejudice are likely to serve any greater purpose than the amusement of their originator.

NEVERTHELESS Baseball and dog-racing are mortal enemies. They will become more violently opposed when the local ball pastures hold games under lights. . . . It seems silly, therefore, to propose a truce. . . . However, here's a proposed truce. . . . On good authority, the column hears that Marsa Tom Yawkey is not absolutely averse to sharing his Fenway Park with a National League baseball concern, regardless of the frequency with which he has been placed on record to the contrary. . . . Tom probably won't come right out in public meeting and admit this. . . . But put a free-spending set of citizens in back of the Bees—guys the opinionated Marsa Tom might take a fancy to—and things might be different. . . . All right. . . . From that premise, we consider the future of National League Park. . . . Where could a better site be found for a dog-racing plant than the former Braves Field?

THE GRIP CURRENTLY HELD BY THE DOG-RACING MAGNATES on the affections of the local politicians is going to be broken eventually. . . . Not this year or next, you can bet, and perhaps not even when a Democrat succeeds the present regime at Beacon Hill. . . . But, sometime. . . . Well, it takes a few years to work out a deal like this. . . . And here's the deal. . . . Run the dogs at National League Field. . . . Get a pact with Yawkey to play at Fenway Park where a bitter has a chance and a Boston National League team might amount to something. . . . Then spend some dough for ball players. . . . After Cincinnati's showing against the Yanks, the true weakness of the older league is evident. . . . Any kind of a ball team, playing in a baseball field instead of a reservation, has a chance to cop the pennant. . . . Maybe the dog-racing magnates can finance a "rival" set of magnates and pick up a ball club at the same time. (The idea is free)

MORE MUSINGS: The journeymen football players of the collegiate ranks have been predicting an upset at Mount St. James way. . . . There is "nothing doing" at Holy Cross, they have been murmuring. . . . This means that you become a Crusader for practically nothing, with bare tuition and books requiring a wrestle with the authorities. . . . With Seymour Weiss in the jug for an alleged period of years, I wonder where the athletic heroes of the Huey Long domain are entertaining their folks and friends these autumn week-ends? . . . Seymour operated the Roosevelt Hotel. . . . After his performance Saturday, Ken Kavanaugh, the Arkansas Traveler, would have rated a whole wing of the Roosevelt—if Seymour were at liberty. . . . Or is he?

PARAMOUNT TO TEAM
PRESTON, MORISON

By Louella O. Parsons

Robert Preston

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 9 Dorothy Lamour's newest heartbeats, Robert Preston, is going to get himself a permanent screen sweetheart—for over the weekend Paramount announced that Bob and Patricia Morison are to be teamed in not one, but several love stories. It's been a long time since any studio has paired off a couple of players for a series but who is to say it might not be a clever move. If you are out of swaddling clothes you can surely remember when Norma Talmadge and Eugene O'Brien, Janet Gaynor and Charlie Farrell and Gilbert and Sullivan were writing movie history as famous sweetheart teams.

Of course, Paramount may be shooting a little high with Bob and Patricia Morison as neither one of them is as well known as their predecessors. But be that as it may, the romantic experiment gets under way in "Moon Over Burma," a novel by Wilson Collison with a South Sea locale. In the meantime the gossip is closely watching the progress of the off-screen Preston-Lamour tie up since there is little doubt he's fallen hard for her.

A LINE OR TWO Bebe Daniels writes that she and Ben Lyon and Jack Donaghy are about the only American actors now living in London. She says she cooked fried chicken for Jack and knowing something about Bebe's culinary skill—all I can say is I'm glad I don't have to eat it. . . . When Heavyweight Eddie Mader fights at Ocean Park in a few nights, Don Ameche, Chet Lauck and Lou Crosby are going to be on hand with their smiling salts on account of they each have a third interest in him.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD: Gaylord Hauser has been interesting little June Preisner in spinach juice the last few evenings at Victor Hugo's. Maybe he has leave of absence from Garbo whose curandero "Nimotcha" makes new movie history for her. Orson Welles has taken to smoking the longest, blackest cigars in town. Taking a cue from Zanuck, Leroy and Lubitsch who smoke while they work?

GARY COOPER gained twenty pounds and looks like a million. He's one person who doesn't mind putting on weight. Dick Purcell has been spending all his leisure time with Lya Lys; Nan Grey, detained here by Universal, will be unable to join Jockey Westrup, her bridegroom, at Belmont; intimates of Orson Welles say he still is hopeful that M-G-M will approve his plan to borrow Ilona Massey to play a top role in his RKO film. She's busy at presents in "Balalaika."

DAILY STORY Loveless Marriage

I HAD BEEN in love with Jack from the time we were children and when he took Betty, my best friend, to the high school prom I was heart-broken.

After that event they went together steadily for two years and everyone anxiously awaited the announcement of their engagement, everyone except me.

For some unknown reason, however, they suddenly broke up and Jack shifted his attentions back toward me. My friends warned me that Jack was still in love with Betty and that if he married me it would be a spite marriage.

WE HAD BEEN MARRIED for only two months when one afternoon Jack came into the kitchen where I was busily at work preparing supper. He was wild-eyed and shaken, his lips white and set, his tall, handsome body trembling with shock.

I was frightened and alarmed as I helped him into the living room to the couch. In a moment I had forced brandy between his clenched teeth. When I tried to comfort him he pushed me away.

The rest of the afternoon and that evening he lay upstairs in somewhat of a stupor, refusing food, refusing to speak to me.

At about nine o'clock the telephone rang and a girl with whom I had never been very friendly asked me how Jack was.

By that time I was so nervous and upset I didn't know what to say. I frankly asked her how she knew Jack was ill.

She murmured something about Jack's being so modest as not to tell me how he had kept Betty Jackson from committing suicide. She talked on and on, telling me cruelly that Jack and Betty had been swimming at Erowan's Cove when Betty had suddenly struck out for sea. Jack had called her back but she had kept swimming frantically. It had taken all of Jack's strength to drag her safely back to shore.

I HUNG UP suddenly, tears blinding my eyes. My friends had been right. The full realization that Jack never had and never would love me fell heavily upon me.

I realized that the only recompense I could make for my blind mistake was to give my husband up to the woman he loved.

LISTEN, WORLD! By Elsie Robinson

HAVE THE YOUNGSTERS of today more temptations than those of 1910?

AND WHO'S TO BLAME IF JUNIOR OR SIS GO WRONG TODAY. . . . THE YOUNGSTERS THEMSELVES. . . . OR THE PARENTS WHO FAILED TO TRAIN THEM?

It's Elaine Hitchcock, a young mother of Sierra Madre, Cal., asking and giving plenty of brisk answers as well. It's frank talking on a subject which needs frankness.

"I'M FED UP," says Elaine, "with all this sex problem talk. What makes you young people think you're so different in that respect from those of the last generation? Because of more opportunity—liquor, cars, movies? We younger parents of today had all of these and knew all the temptations that went with them."

"BUT WE OURSELVES WERE DIFFERENT. WE KNEW WHEN TO STOP AND WHEN TO MAKE THE BOYS STOP. IF HE DIDN'T STOP—HE JUST DIDN'T COME AGAIN—AND IT WASN'T BECAUSE WE WERE AFRAID. IT WAS BECAUSE WE WERE DECENT AND WANTED TO STAY DECENT."

"Listen to me, Young America! Stop putting all the blame on us parents. We do our best to make you decent people. If we have made mistakes—as many of us have—it is because we have given you too much freedom."

"Then when we give you your freedom, what happens? You marry some fine fellow or girl who is too 'dull' for you and you rush headlong into divorce. You come back to homes which have been already depleted by your extravagance and then you cry—"

"Why weren't we told these things? Why weren't we warned?"

"You were warned. You were helped. You knew all the answers. But you just didn't want to exercise self-control. And now you complain! Where is your much boasted 'sportsmanship'?"

A GRAND LETTER FROM THE first to appear in this column. I think you've overlooked some factors in modern life which make it mighty hard sledding for many a youngster. This depression has had a sort of reckless-ness that previous generations did not know, even your own.

You've known the bright side, Elaine—and all your kind. BE TOLERANT TO THOSE WHO HAVEN'T!

Burlesque Returns to Globe's Stage; Sally Keith Star

Mandy Kay Heads Comics

The Globe Theatre, built 25 years ago to house the unforgettable Weber and Fields' troupe, resumes its original character today when Manager Max Michaels and his burlesque company exchange the Columbia for this new address.

Sally Keith, burlesque's "original tinsel tassel topper" and "highest priced star," will head the cast that brings back burlesque to this erstwhile standing-ground of such vaudeville greats as Ray Trumpton, Lilian Russell, Frankie Bailey, Marie Dressler, Eddie Foy, David Warfield, Louis Mann, Sam Bernard and George Marion.

Sally Keith, Nora Ford, the South's favorite swing girl, the one and only Mandy Kay, Al Farr and the dancing Bernadette are featured in the current show. Ben Bernard is the producer and stage director. The Globe will have three shows daily, at noon and at 2:30 and 8:20 p. m.

'Joy of Living' On Tremont Screen

Now showing at the Tremont are "Joy of Living," which has Irene Dunne and young Doug Fairbanks as stars, and "Submarine Patrol" with Richard Greene.

In addition there are seven features on the current bill.

LOUISE STEWART is the star of the Old Howard's new show, "Cherry Blossoms."

Gala Bill At Howard

Superlatively attractive Louise Stewart is the star of the Old Howard's new stage show, "Cherry Blossoms," which is represented as possessing the most diverting blend of glamour and gags offered this season.

Glamour-girls Peggy St. Clair, Bette Lynn and Grace Gordon, and comics George Murray, Billy "Scratch" Williams and Chic Hunter, who are importantly featured, are described as best of their class.

Others in the cast are Pearl Mylie, Wilbur Rance, Charlie Johnson, Paul Rich and his harmonica, Dottie and Leah Nash, Norma Shaw and the swing dancing team, Smiles and Smiles.

On Wednesday, eve of Columbus Day, there will be a special holiday midnight show, starting at 11:30.

Nadine Marsh Tops Gayety Bill

The Gayety's new burlesque show for the week, "Bottoms Up," is offered as its biggest and best today with "America's Sweetheart," Nadine Marsh as the major attraction.

Gladys Clark, eloquacious lovely from N. T. G.'s World's Fair show, is again featured in the show. She is introducing a new routine of daring dances. Other picturesque burlesque pets in the company are Florence Ellis, La Voda and Viola Spath assisted by Comic James Walters, Vic Plant, another comic favorite.

Action, Thrills Pack Sub Film at Loew's

By PEGGY DOYLE

"Thunder Afloat" could not have been better timed if the Mad Man of Europe and Metro had been in conference concerning its release date.

With the eyes of New England coast dwellers peered for alien U-boats, this lusty, heart-rocking adventure-yarn of how the mosquito fleet combated the submarine menace along the Atlantic coast in 1918 is sufficiently attention-getting to jam Loew's's Theatre and Orpheum theaters this week.

It is live and fast-moving throughout, with the drama nicely blended with comedy and George B. Seitz doing a bangup directorial job.

As rival tugboat owners Wallace Beery and Chester Morris bicker while they bid for a barge towing contract. Thanks to his daughter, Virginia Grey, who maneuvers the unsuspecting Morris into joining the mosquito fleet of sub-chasers, Beery gets the contract.

When a German sub sinks his beloved Susan H., Beery joins up quicker than you can say tur and discovers, to his rage, that Morris is his superior officer.

Unable to take orders, Beery breaks away from his companion sub-chasers, steering his ship smack into an alien submersible but with victory in his hands he is outwitted by the enemy. He is also demoted for insubordination to the rank of seaman for shore duty.

But out of defeat comes glorious success when, assigned by Morris to a fishing windjammer to find out the sub, he discovers the sub is taken aboard as prisoner after his own craft is blown up and taps the hull of the German ship, enabling the mosquito fleet to get the proper soundings and effect a capture.

This lowdown on the down-under craft that play featured roles in the current hostilities is tremendously exciting and genuinely informative. Beery and Morris are grand as the feuding seadogs who, in the final analysis, have a deep and abiding respect for each other's seaman-ship. There is a salty humor about their bickering that is heartily entertaining.

Miss Grey, as Beery's daughter, maintains the rough-and-ready note most competently. Henry Victor, as the German U-boat officer; Regis Toomey, Carl Esmond, Douglas Dumbrille and Jonathan Hale are uniformly excellent.

Murder and mystery are neck and neck in "Fast and Furious," the second feature co-starring Franchot Tone and Ann Southern.

It's a fact—no sooner do the bright-and-shiny new models come into the market than a crop of excellent used-car values starts coming in, too. People who can't resist buying the very newest models are the people who often bring in last year's (or the year before's) models in almost good-as-new condition. If you're looking for the tops in used-car value, their good luck is yours. This is the time—and the Record-American and Sunday Advertiser Automobile for Sale Columns is the place to find these values.

Smart Set Functions

By BETTY ALDEN

MOST RECENT ADDITION to the long list of holiday brides is Betty Proctor who will be married Thursday to Courtney Craig Smith at the Marblehead Neck summer home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George N. Proctor.

Betty is a sister of George N. Proctor, 34, who married Rose Gordon Steins of Brookline, who will be matron of honor at the wedding. . . . Florence Smith, sister of the bridegroom, will be the only other attendant and Edward R. Weismiller, a classmate of Mr. Smith at Merton College, Cambridge, England, the best man.

Saturday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jenkins gave a dinner party for the bridal couple at the Somerset Balinese Room. . . . Mrs. Jenkins presided over the flower decked, candlelit table, wearing a gown of rose and silver lame with an orchid corsage, and her daughter, Mrs. Proctor, 34, was as pretty as ever in rosy red slipper satin with diamond clips adorning the low square neckline. . . . Betty wore an orchid corsage and a white ostrich feather cape with her white gown.

Mr. and Mrs. George Defren, Jr., enthusiastic skiers, got a kick out of the little Tyrolean doll place cards, and also enjoying the festive party were Florence Smith and Harris Condon.

The future bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Samuel Craig Smith of Iowa City, a Harvard graduate and a Rhodes Scholar. . . . He and his bride will live in Cambridge.

Word-Madden Ceremony Attended by Skaters

SEVERAL HUNDRED GUESTS, including many members of the Boston Skating Club, attended the wedding of Grace Madden and Stevenson Ward, Jr., Saturday, and overflowed onto the lawn at the Lester Maddens' beautiful Newton estate, where a wedding breakfast was served in the warm noonday sunlight.

Mrs. Robert Fiske, daughter of the late Admiral Sims, attended the ceremony at the Church of Our Lady, with Mr. Fiske, and sitting just behind them were Mr. and Mrs. David Cheever, Jr. . . . Joan Tozzer, national women's skating champion, sat with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred M. Tozzer, and waved a greeting across the aisle to Bernard Fox, her skating partner, who attended with members of his family. . . . The winsome star of the silver skates wore a simple gray wool dress with a coachman's hat of royal blue velours. . . . She has just returned from spending the summer in the West and in Hawaii.

Prominent Skating club members greeting the bridal couple at the reception included Dr. and Mrs. Channing Frothingham, Leslie Eustis in a modish gray dress with a kidskin cape and burgundy accessories, Mr. and Mrs. David Forbes, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Grannis, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Winthrop Churchill, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bradley and Mr. and Mrs. Willie Frick, famous skating pair who have coached the bride in many of the national pageants in which she and her brother, Jimmie, have won national and international championships.

MR. AND MRS. STEVENSON E. WARD, JR., pause for a chat with each other after greeting hundreds of friends at their wedding Saturday. The bride is the former Grace Madden of Newton, Junior League and Vincent Club member, and nationally famous ice skater.

Miss Byrnes Joins Brides

Christine Byrnes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick A. Byrnes of South Boston, became the bride of Dr. Francis J. McNamara, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick H. McNamara of Melrose in John of Heaven Church, with Rev. John L. Flawley, former classmate of the bridegroom at Boston College, performing the ceremony, which was followed by a reception at the Sheraton.

The bride was gowned in oyster white velvet marquisette. . . . The full bridal veil was bordered in duchess lace and was draped from a coronet of pearls. She carried orchids and noivaudias.

Mrs. George Valentine Byrnes of Dorchester, as matron of honor, was attired in deep rose taffeta with heart-shaped hat of deep rose velvet. The two bridesmaids, Louise and Anne Byrnes, wore hoop-skirted frocks of peacock blue taffeta and flower hats.

Dr. McNamara and his bride will reside in Melrose. Mrs. McNamara is a graduate of Boston City Hospital Training School for Nurses.

ALTRUSA MEMBERS TO HOLD DINNER

Miss Marie Carroll, chief of the reference service on International Affairs for the World Peace Movement, is to be guest speaker at the monthly dinner meeting of the Boston Altrusa Club tomorrow evening at the Women's City Club.

Miss Corinne Loomis will entertain club members at her home in Louisburg square before the dinner, and Miss Emily Webb Altrusa's president, will conduct the meeting.

FUTURE BRIDE FETED

Coworkers of Mary Sampey of Boston, feted her at a "surprise" shower at Gundlach's Hofbrau, in honor of her approaching marriage to John Curran of Medford.

Perry-Bemis Bridal On Saturday

The Misses Josephine and Rebecca Perry, sisters of the bridegroom, will be among the Bostonian bridesmaids at the marriage of Myrtle D. Bemis to Arthur Perry, Jr., next Saturday in the Second Church in Newton.

The bride-to-be is the daughter of Mrs. Albert Farwell Bemis of Chestnut Hill, and Mr. Perry's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Perry of Marlborough st. The 3.30 wedding will be followed by a reception at the Bemis home. Mrs. Judson Bemis of St. Louis and Mary Gentry of Washington D. C. will be honor attendants, and the bridesmaids will include Barbara Farlett of New Britain, Ct., Margaret Toibert and Mrs. James Brewster, 34, of Boston, Mrs. Robert Amory and Priscilla Lamb of New York and Mary Elizabeth Klapp of Philadelphia.

Dr. Eddy's Question Box

ARE QUICK-FROZEN FOODS HEALTHFUL?

SHOULD YOU SLEEP IN WELL-AIRED ROOM?

By DR. WALTER H. EDDY

Director of Good Housekeeping Bureau

Questions concerning foods, sanitation, and health will be answered only if a stamped, addressed envelope accompanies your request. No questions can be made to this rule. Prescriptions advice can not be given, nor can food or drug samples be analyzed. Address Dr. Walter H. Eddy, 37th st. at 8th ave., New York City.

Value of Quick-Frozen Foods
"I would like your opinion as to the health value of quick-frozen foods. Could they replace fresh vegetables in the diet with the same satisfactory results?"

J. P. R.

The process of quick freezing preserves the foodstuff without the formation of large particles of ice in the tissue, hence the structure of the fruit, vegetables or meat is not injured. A pleasing result of this is the retention, to a high degree, of the natural flavors. Since this quick freezing does not result in bleeding of the tissues, there can not be any loss of the food substances which were originally present in the product.

The only question has been as to whether the freezing injured the vitamin content. To determine this point extensive studies have been made of the effect of this freezing on vitamins. It is encouraging to note that no evidence of destruction has been revealed.

Use Enough Covers

"Do you believe it is wise for healthy people of middle age to sleep with an abundance of cold air in the bedroom?"

Mrs. I. H. L.

The only danger from the cold air is the possible chilling of the body. If you take care to have plenty of covers on the bed, you will sleep better in a well-ventilated room than in a warm room, even though that warm room has a plentiful supply of oxygen.

Tablets Good Vitamin Source
"Is cod-liver oil in tablet form as healthful as in the liquid form?"

Miss E. A.

It is generally agreed that the value of cod-liver oil lies in its vitamin-A and D content and not, to any great extent, in the oil itself. Since cod-liver-oil tablets represent the vitamins extracted from cod-liver oil, and since the body can absorb these just as well from the swallowed tablets as from the swallowed cod-liver oil, there is no reason why tablets should not be a perfectly satisfactory substitute for the liquid oil.

VITAMIN A is the anti-xerophthalmic vitamin, because its omission from the diet results in an eye disease called xerophthalmia. It is a component of butter fat and egg yolk. It is also present in the green leaves of plants, in certain roots, especially those with yellow color (carrots, sweet potatoes, etc.), and to a more abundant degree in fish oils, such as cod liver oil.

CUSTARD PIE

is as important as Rouge or Lipstick..
IF you have

Gray Hair

If you have gray hair, simply wet it with Canute Water and allow to dry. A few applications, (all in one day, if desired) completely re-colors it similar to its former natural shade. Attention only once a month will keep it that way.
Curl your hair or get a permanent, if you wish. There's no interference. Neither will sunshine, salt-water or shampooing disturb the color. Your hair remains clean and natural to the touch and looks natural in any light.

Safe!
No Skin Test Needed
Canute Water is pure, safe, colorless and crystal clear. It is a remarkable record of 25 years without injury to a single person. It was also tested and proven perfectly harmless by a N. and S. Scientist in one of America's Greatest Universities.
No Other Product Can Make All These Claims
It is so wonderful that we sell more Canute Water than all other hair coloring preparations combined.

No High-Jinks
In Stock Market

Financial Editor

Despite the cry of alarmists stock prices did not indulge in fanciful high-jinks on the outbreak of war abroad. The pace may have been fast but it was by no means exhausting. And at no time was domestic trade outrun.

CYCLE CHARTS. Such as that shown here today reveal the relative positions of trade and market. Through their use ridiculous disparities can be quickly spotted. And provision made for inevitable readjustments. And that applies to the upside as well as the downside. For on many occasions stock prices lag in the recovery sweepstakes. They were, in fact doing just that late last summer. And war furnished the incentive needed to spur them on. And comparison with past performances strongly suggests further improvement in prices is logical. Especially in view of the September market. The charted market index. But since then—and this is the reason for bullishness—trade has scored great improvement.

It is undoubtedly flirting with a new high for the year. Say between 90 and 100 on the chart. Which, when we adjust or translate to comparable stock prices, means a rise in the latter index to between $150 and $160. Obviously there is not only room for improvement but there has been a remarkable degree of caution shown by stocks. For a lay state which probably allows for any undesirable speculation by trade on war prospects.

BITS O'GOSSIP. Cooper-Bessemer is given a kind word here and there on the basis heavy industry revival means good gains for the company. Incidentally it just sold the government eight sets of generating equipment. These will not be shipped until August 1940 and have a value of about $40,000 per set. Walworth's export business is said to be coming along faster than regular business. Estimators feel orders in general are up around 20 per cent. Mueller Brass may earn a maximum of $250 per share this year. Prices of all products have advanced. And July, August and September results are said to have far exceeded last year.

BOARDROOM BRIEFS. Motor Products is said to have regained practically all the business

Ludlum Steel net is set around $1 a share for 1939. Largely on the basis of trade advance orders are pouring in for steel such as Ludlum specializes in. The best part of specialty steel is the profit margin. Usually wider than that prevailing in standard lines.

CEMENT SHARES. Have not been getting the attention they deserve under current conditions. In the opinion of many observers. Who feel that war or peace the industry will do as well as industry in general. With the additional possibility stimulated Latin American trade will supply something of an "extra dividend." Severe competition from European producers has been the plague of the industry. And war, by cutting imports, will strengthen domestic sales already improved by better construction levels. Lone Star selling well under its 1939 high and not far removed from the low, is favored. Since it will benefit particularly from the situation outlined.

U. S. '37 WEALTH 322 BILLION

NEW YORK, Oct. 9 (AP)—The national wealth of the United States in 1937 was estimated at $322,000,000,000 by the National Industrial Conference Board.

This compared with $353,000,000,000 at the post-war peak in 1929 and the depression-low of $287,000,000,000 touched in 1934. The board said the per capita wealth in 1937 was $2490, compared with $2910 at the height of the post-war prosperity in 1929 and $2263 in the 1934 depression year.

Bar Gold Steady

LONDON, Oct. 9 (AP)—Bar gold 168s, unchanged. (Equivalent on basis of the dollar at $4.03.) $33.85. Bar silver 22½d, up ½. Equivalent 4148 cents.

LORD STAMP TO AID

LONDON, Oct. 9 (INS)—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain today announced appointment of Lord Stamp, British industrial and railway magnate, as adviser to the government on economic co-ordination.

Daily Horoscope readings by Frances Drake, every day in the DAILY RECORD.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9 (AP)—Selected stocks displayed rallying tendencies in today's market after much early hesitancy, but numerous issues lacked rising vitality.

Dealings were the slowest since the start of the war boom about six weeks ago, with gains and losses running to a point or so about evenly divided.

Confused thinking regarding the European embargo, the possibility of a nearby armistice temporarily jolting the domestic business structure and continuance of the congressional neutrality contest, brokers said, helped chill the purchasing urge.

At the same time, lightness of offerings seemed encouraging to those with bullish ideas, as was the nibbling of buyers here and there.

European markets were irregular. Bonds and commodities followed an uneven trail. U. S. government securities exhibited strength.

Stocks getting support at one time or another were Bethlehem Steel, Chrysler, General Motors, Eastern Airlines, American Airlines, Glenn Martin, Sears Roebuck, Consolidated Edison, Santa Fe, Kennecott and U. S. Rubber.

Backward were Allied Chemical, Union Carbide, Westinghouse, Alcoa, Texas Corp., Eastman Kodak, Goodyear, Sperry, North American and Phelps Dodge.

In the curb, minor advances were posted for Lake Shore, Sherman Williams and International Petroleum. Lagging were American Gas, Gulf Oil and Cooper-Bessemer. On the "big board," Chrysler was resistant despite the shutdown of one of the company's big Detroit plants due to what the management charged was a "slow down" strike. Some 10,000 workers were made idle. Noted also were General Motors' figures, disclosing September sales were under August, but well ahead of September a year ago.

Fans Laugh at N. L. As Yanks Ruin Reds

By JOE CASHMAN

CINCINNATI, Oct. 9—Those irresistible Yankees, with nine straight series games to their credit, today sport a fourth consecutive world's championship, two more than any other club ever won in a row, and well may the nation's fandom laugh at the National League as a major circuit.

Rated the classiest and scrappiest N. L. entry in five years, the Cincinnati Reds not only collapsed in the face of Yankees' power in four straight heats but left themselves open to far more censure and ridicule than did the Crumbling Chicago Cubs, victims of the Bombers' grand slam last fall.

The Cubs, who never had a chance, were merely decisively beaten. The Reds, who had chances galore which they ignored, were not only slaughtered but disgraced in the bargain.

The Rhinelanders, with a two-run lead, had only to get three Yanks out to capture the Sunday game and escape utter rout in the engagement.

And they folded up like so many acrobats in a fashion which dismayed their supporters, disgusted even the most partisan American League voters and convinced one and all the senior loop must get itself a lot of new ball players before it can seriously threaten A. L. supremacy.

A. L. GRADUATES REDS

Up to the ninth inning these Reds were the darlings of the patrons thanks to gallant efforts of three Ohioans with American League backgrounds.

Sparked by old Al Simmons, and Willie Hershberger, one-time Yankee farmer, the Rhinelanders recovered from the shock of Charley Keller and Bill Dickey, homers in

Red Sox Cut $33,008.84 Slice of Series Pie

CINCINNATI, Oct. 9 (AP)—In addition to the World Series player pool of $140,117.84, from which each member of the Yankees got a full share of $5,614.26 and each of the Cincinnati Reds a full share of $1,282.38, the second, third and fourth-place clubs in the American and National leagues will receive the following shares:

Second place (St. Louis Cardinals and Boston Red Sox): $33,008.81 each.

Third place (Brooklyn Dodgers and Cleveland Indians): $22,005.83 each.

Fourth place (Chicago Cubs and Chicago White Sox): $11,002.95.

the first of the seventh and in the last of the frame scored three runs with Bill Werber chasing in the third rally.

But while the customers were still trying to figure out why Simmons and Hershberger hadn't appeared earlier in the series the National League in the lineup saw to it that A. L. discards wouldn't be heroes.

In the ninth Lonnie Frey and Billy Meyers handled what should have been a double play ball like a couple of clowns and got nobody. Two Yanks scored and the game was tied.

COMIC SERIES ENDS

"Beaser" Lombardi and Ival Goodman completed the debacle in the tenth, ending the series as they had started it, looking like a couple of bloomer girls taking their first baseball lesson.

DiMaggio hit a single with two men on and all three Yanks scored on the blow in the weirdst World Series climax which ever has been or ever will be seen.

First Goodman, watching Crosetti sprinting home from third, let DiMaggio's drive trickle through his legs. Before he could recover the ball and get it back in, Keller also had counted all the way from first, as Lombardi was dropping the throw.

So the game all over as far as he was concerned, the Reds' catcher then stood looking at the pill at his feet while DiMaggio also came all the way around to score.

MOURNING NOTE CORRECT

President Ford Frick of the National League was wearing a black hat when he pulled out of Cincinnati. He should have been in mourning from chapeau to shoes.

The only one flash the National League had made in four games had been provided by American League discards.

With Paul Derringer going seven innings and Bucky Walters finishing up yesterday, each of the Reds' 55-victory (twirling twins) had two chances and muffed them.

A lame-armed Red Ruffing held the Rhinelanders to four hits in the opener. A sorer-armed Monte Pearson pitched a two-hit shutout against them in the second game. Getting ten hits off Lefty Gomez and Bump Hadley, to gain a 2-1 edge in hitting honors on Saturday, they were stopped by four Yankee home runs.

TOSS AWAY EDGE

Then, in the fantastic finale, they were held scoreless for four frames by an ailing Hildebrand, and, after fashioning a lead against Steve Sundra and Johnny Murphy, they tossed their advantage into the "Beautiful Ohio" and jumped in after it.

Now everybody will ask whether it would have made any difference if Simmons and Hershberger had been used throughout the series. McKechnie had been urged to use Simmons, and after Lombardi's clumsy work in the opener, friends of the Reds' pilot suggested that he try Hershberger behind the bat.

But Wilkinsburg Will stubbornly stuck to his original nomination. The Reds probably would have made a better showing and certainly couldn't have made a sorrier one had Simmons and Hershberger played steadily.

But the Yanks would have won under wraps just the same, would

That doesn't excuse the Reds' failure to try all their tools or even their failure to make a better showing with the men they used.

YANKS LEAVE OPENINGS

The Yanks have romped to American League pennants as easily as they have to World Series triumphs for four years but the weakest of A. L. clubs could and would knock off the Bombers once or twice if they were given as many openings as were the Reds.

The ball the Yanks played in this series, for example, would never have beaten the Red Sox, Tigers or Indians four straight.

But the Red Sox, Indians and Tigers don't seem to enthrall too much.

The Yanks play only as well as is required to win. If they don't win a fifth American League pennant and world's title next year we'll demand a salute to be taken of the club which beats them.

They have everything and then a lot to spare.

They introduced two strangers to Series play this fall.

One, named Babe Dahlgren who wasn't good enough for the Red

TURNING POINT—Here's the play that led to Yanks victory in fourth and final game of World Series. Billy Myers, Reds shortstop, muffs throw and Joe DiMaggio is safe at second. A moment later he skidded home with the tying run.

AUSTEN LAKE Economic Royalists Of Baseball Still Rule

I HASTEN TO SAY BEFORE YOU DO that I am one who picked the Reds to beat the Yankees in this World Series. Thus qualified as an expert I now offer what seems to be the germ of a bright idea.

Austen Lake
Primo Carnera was thought to be when he hacked down Ernie Schaff and Jack Sharkey.

The New York Boxing Commission ruled impulsively that Primo was an abnormal human who should be segregated from standard-sized people and be made to fight similar freaks. Later, of course, it was discovered that he was actually sub-average in boxing knock and just as vulnerable about the vitals as other pugilists.

But these Yankees offer a real threat to baseball prosperity and you would have thought so double if you heard the grumbles coming from the thwarted burghers of Cincinnati, not to mention the despair exuding from the souls of the National League magnates.

HERE IS WHAT THE YANKEES HAVE done in the last eighteen years. Pennants won—11. World Series won—8. Series won in 4 straight—5. World Series won in succession—4.

Baseball is worried. Such complete monopoly by a competitive firm means a slur on the other firm's goods and a demonstration of inferiority. So by drawing the players out of a pool the weaker clubs might come upon a season when Joe DiMaggio, Red Ruffing, Bill Dickey and a couple of other stars would land in some poorer club's employ and win a pennant for some needy owner.

To be sure the pooling system would make for a sort of communistic baseball. But this can't be helped. The Yankees, with an abundance of valuable personnel, would have to throw it up for grabs and would, to the betterment of the majority, come out weaker and poorer and thus re-establish the "more abundant life" for the league incompetents. For baseball is a community matter and the customers will not come out in paydays to watch feeble clubs like the Reds, Cubs, and Giants, licked by strong ones like the Yankees. If the strong firms wish to prosper, they must do something to balance the competition in their games.

THIS IS NOT ONLY A NATIONAL LEAGUE problem. Indeed as Mr. Moe Berg, the erudite Red Sox catcher, puts it, "The Reds were lucky. They only faced the Yankees in four games. We of the American League have to play them all season."

The trouble with the National League, which a weekly magazine called "the new minor league" a year or so ago, is the same affliction that troubles the American League Yankees.

The mistake that the public make in judging the calibre of one league against the other is in judging the fortunes of Joe McCarthy's hired men. The Yankees have overpowered the American circuit as emphatically as they have smothered the National League champions during the last four years. The same has been largely true of the annual All-Star game, which has been mostly Yankee in complexion.

A fairer estimate of the two major leagues would be to compare, instead of the most exalted, the humblest teams in each circuit—the Browns and Athletics in the American with the Phillies and Bees in the National. Or the chronic middle-club—Brooklyn and the Pirates with the Senators, White Sox and Cleveland. Not much to choose from there. And when it comes to the Cardinals and Cubs against the Red Sox and Tigers, I'll take the National League pair and give you the Americans. So, below the neck of the two leagues the rival teams sum up to pretty even figures and, instead of branding the National as the new minor league, it makes better sense to label the Yankees as the "one-team major league."

Still, Time will lick the Yankees as Time will also lick Joe Louis. Ultimately they, like Connie Mack's '29, '30 and '31 champions, will yield to the law of disintegration. The little termites of spiritual decay will bore from within and bring them down as they have brought other teams tumbling from the top. For there are no real Dreadnaughts in the realm of sport—only temporary illusions like Primo Carnera.

I did not think that the Reds would come down with intestinal twitters this October like the Cubs and the Giants did in previous Octobers. But they did. In fact this series was not remarkable for any new heights of skill and a post impression is that of a Walt Disney animated cartoon, with the Mickey Mice playing the Hairy Baboons and the muscular monkeys upstaging cinematic precedent by wallowing the popular rodents with every kind of hilarious suggestion that could be devised by their creator's gifted brain.

FLORIDA GIVES EAGLES ACID TEST AT FENWAY

Boston College will wade into the crucial part of its 1939 schedule when rugged Florida University invades Fenway Park on Thursday afternoon.

ANDREW TROZZI
Boxes Tonight at Arena

23 Iramerk Fights on At Arena

Fifty-three fighters, 23 fights. That's tonight's lineup at the Arena, where the Irish-American A. A. is staging the second of four Golden Gloves trial tournaments.

And the fifty-three fighters can fight. There are prominent veterans of the amateur wars like Pat Devine, Cambridge, New England 175-pound light heavyweight champion, and Andrew Trozzi of Stoneham, runner-up in the 118-pound division.

And there are newcomers like Harold Harris of Malden, 126-pounder, who promises to "steal" tonight's show, and Henry Dougenko, crack light heavyweight from Millers Falls.

Harris tonight faces a lineup which includes Mike Peters of Natick, star of the first novice tournament at the Arena three weeks back; Johnny Rizzo, East Boston, and Eddie Silva, Taunton, among others.

Dougenko, a stiff puncher, faces the toughest job of the night. Among his opponents are the great Pat Devine, Abel Gonzales of Providence, Rhode Island.

There will be boxing in all eight classes, and the winners will qualify for the Golden Gloves grand finale which will be staged at the same Arena on the night of Oct. 30. The first bout will go on promptly at 8:15.

Frank Leahy's team has shown twice this year and each time the assembled throng has gone home satisfied as the Eagles won.

However, the second showing against an inspired St. Joseph's College eleven was hardly as neat a performance as the Eagles displayed in trimming Lebanon Valley in the opener.

Boston College wasn't primed for Friday's test. It looked for a breather and accordingly when pressed could not get rolling. The Eagles must brace Thursday against Florida.

FLORIDA STRONG

Florida won its opener against Stetson, but lost by small scores to powerful Texas and Mississippi State. Both Texas and Mississippi are national powerhouse and the fact that Florida held them to two touchdowns bodes ill for B. C.

Head Coach Leahy and his aides this afternoon were to begin a two-day period of strenuous work with Wednesday reserved for Fenway Park signal drill.

The physical condition of Boston College will play a major part in its success or failure Thursday. Capt. Ernie Schaefer, Frank Davis, Jett Cright, and Joe Manzo were bruised and battered Friday night.

EAGLE LINE QUESTION

If Leahy's team is to back, it is ready to face the Eagles may open the contest with three sophomores at the starting backfield.

The backfield, regardless of which boys form it, will be potent. It's the lethargic line play of B. C. which is worrying Leahy. If he can whip the front into real shape in these three remaining days the Eagle roster will be ready to take its chances with any team in the schedule.

Conway Leads Grid Pickers

Jack Conway, sports director, led the Boston Evening American staff of football selectors in Saturday's poll with eight out of 10 winners. Conway missed out only on the Holy Cross-Louisiana State and Fordham-Alabama games.

Austen Lake had seven winners out of nine selections.

Fred Lane, with seven winners, was the only staff member to pick Louisiana State over H. C.

Frank Moynihan, leader last week, also had seven winners; Bill Grimes, Huck Finnegan and Dave Glueck had six and Will Connell five.

No question about it . . . in baseball, the Yankees "have what it takes" . . . everything it takes. So, in brewing, has HARVARD . . . an unbeatable combination of unequalled water, choice materials, superior facilities, skilled manpower, and determination to win . . . every time.

Crimson Play Hints Strong Team on Way

By DAVID GLUECK

In defeating Bates, 20 to 0, Harvard showed promise of becoming a representative-Dick Harlow outfit. Of course the Crimson displayed more than the usual amount of first game roughness due to the presence of five sophomores in the starting lineup.

The tackling was ragged, with unsuccessful attempts by three or four men often preceding the final fetch. The blocking was uncertain, and in spite of fair faking by the Crimson backfield, Bates men sifted through the line to stop lots of plays before they crossed the scrimmage marker.

There were several bright spots in the home team's play. Jiffy J. Gardella followed what little interference there was with sparkling success. In a backfield that showed itself otherwise weak on pass defense, he was a defensive standout, allowing no completions, and intercepting one pass.

Erny Seargent, 170-pound running guard, was the best man in the line, rushing the passer hard and making plenty of tackles behind the opposing forward wall.

Unfortunately, Seargent is too light to stand the wear and tear of 60 minutes and capable substitute for him are yet to be developed.

HEALEY STANDOUT

Mose Hallett, who has been backing him up, works better at tackle, and will probably be returned to that position. This leaves Dick Phister, 200-pound third stringer who was in against Bates for just two plays, as relief material.

Speaking of tackles, Tom Healey turned in his usual reliable performance, twice recovering important fumbles. Pete Elser, who substituted for giant Vern Miller at the other hot spot, did so well that there is more than a good chance of his replacing the mammoth Milwaukeean at the start of the Chicago rally.

Loren MacKinney satisfied Harlow with his play at right end, but the other flank disclosed its predicted weakness. Devine, Kelly and Haydock, none of whom weigh 180, were all tried and found considerably wanting. This week big Gene Lovett reenters the competition, and may be able to bolster up the weak wing.

Eddie Casey, former Harvard mentor, commented favorably on the Crimson showing at half time. He pointed out, however, that there so far was a lack of the pepper and potash necessary to meet the heavy end of the batting order. This, he thought, might be taken care of in the two weeks before the Penn game.

HARLOW SATISFIED

Dick Harlow declared that "the team looked just like Cliff Wilson club when they first took the field in varsity competition."

"When you get a bunch of inexperienced sophomores out there you'll always see a lot of errors," said Harlow. "This game has been very valuable in giving us an idea of what we have to work on."

He expressed his satisfaction with the "youngsters" work, especially

BOB QUINN PLANNING BEES HOUSECLEANING

By BILL GRIMES

Pres. Bob Quinn of the Bees is going on a much needed vacation . . . Bob is the worrying type, even to the extent that he believes he's responsible for injuries that keep players out of the lineup . . .

He'd be willing to quit baseball if he could bring a winning club to Boston . . . He has made fine progress since he took over the Bees and there'll be many new names on the 1940 roster, for the Big Boss is in the market to buy and trade until he gets what he wants . . . It's rumored that the Bees will have a working agreement with a Class AA club next season and will also operate another Class D team . . .

Al Lopez will operate a baseball school this winter at Clearwater, Fla., along with Watty Clark, former Brooklyn southpaw . . . Tony Cuccinello, Johnny Cooney and Paul Derringer will act as instructors . . . Billy Wietelmann, the promising shortstop, and "Skippy" Roberg, a Lovell boy, who played second base for Bradford, Pa., of the Pony League, will attend the Lopez school . . . Eddie Miller plans to winter at Clearwater . . .

Teddy Williams returned from New York Friday and as soon as he gets his worldly possessions together, he'll start over the road for Minneapolis, where he will spend the winter . . . He's somewhat worried over the cold weather in Minnesota but believes that he'll "winter" with the help of long heavy underwear and an ulster . . .

NIGHT GAMES AT B. C. HIT

Judging from the capacity crowd that braved the inclement weather to attend the St. Joe's game at The Heights, Boston College should look with great favor on night football . . . St. Joe, an unknown opponent, wouldn't have drawn a corporal's guard under a balmy sun . . . But the largest gathering that ever trekked to Boston College saw them in action under the lights.

Night football, providing a modern lighting system was installed, would take the Eagles out of the red . . .

They say that Harvard wasn't impressive against Bates . . . But if you purchase a win ticket on the Crimson every week you'll be a winner . . . Harvard will not lose more than one game this season, unless the squad is hit heavily by injuries . . .

There must be some great football squads among the Southern college teams. The paper on Friday night that Louisiana State didn't have a Chinaman's chance to take the measure of Holy Cross . . . Our informant did admit that the mass of 394 at S. U. was the greatest array of football talent any Southern college or university had ever enrolled . . . And he stated that he had been in Alabama and Tulane had been signed up . . . He called attention to the fact that there are no less than eight tackles on the Florida team . . . He said that he measures more than six feet and tip the beam at better than 200 . . .

HOLY CROSS OUTCLASSSED

The Crusaders were badly out-classed by L. S. U. . . . True, they didn't play part football . . . But they wouldn't have been enough to take the Tigers . . . The Crusaders didn't recover from that "coffin corner" kick that Leo Bird un-kicked in the first period . . . Big Ken Kavanaugh, on his showing at Filton Field, is the greatest pass receiver ever in New England . . . And in Leo Bird, Gerry Hightower, Billy McKinney and Alex Box, the Tigers have a quartet of very promising sophomore backs . . . If he's better than the Crusaders,

The defeat by L. S. U. was a blow to Holy Cross . . . The Crusaders had been built up as the tops in New England and as one of the ranking teams in the East . . . A week ago, out of town football scribes were criticized for not lauding the Crusaders to the skies following the victory over Manhattan . . . Now the Worcester expert (?) who turned on the heat is holding the bag.

Joe Cashman Picked Yanks

Joe Cashman, baseball editor of the Boston Evening American, picked the Yanks to win the World's Series over the Reds and they did.

Jack Conway also named the Yanks to win, and had previously picked the Yanks and Reds to win their respective pennants with Red Sox and Cardinals taking second place honors.

Junior Fights Honey Mellody

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 9 (AP)—After more than two years of biding his time, Paul Junior of Lewiston is getting his second crack at the New England light weight boxing title.

Next Thursday, in Exposition Building here, Junior will meet Honey Melody of Boston, chief title claimant in a 12-round fight under supervision of the new Maine Boxing Commission.

Mr. BOSTON

By JACK CONWAY

THOSE CAREFREE souls who have been insisting that football as played by the Northern colleges was much superior to the brand offered by the Southern elevens received a frightful jolt when Louisiana walloped Holy Cross, 26 to 7, and Alabama nosed out powerful Fordham, 7 to 6.

Louisiana had come North following a defeat by Mississippi, and was not rated within two touchdowns of the Crusaders. Louisiana then released its lightning attack at Fitton Field, and aided by Holy Cross mistakes smashed out a commanding lead in the first half and coasted to victory.

Alabama had a closer battle, and won by only the margin of a goal after touchdown.

The victories of Louisiana and Alabama were additional proof of the high standing of football in the South.

It was first the mid-West, then the Pacific Coast, later the Southwest, and finally the South that challenged the football might of the big Eastern elevens.

People in other parts of the country have given football every possible attention. They have secured the best available coaches, and have gone far in the search for first class material. The result is the East has lost its former supremacy in football.

Florida to Battle Boston College

BOSTON COLLEGE will profit financially as a result of the defeats suffered by Holy Cross and Fordham by Southern elevens. There will be increased interest in the gridiron clash between the Maroon and Gold and the University of Florida at Fenway Park on Columbus Day afternoon. The public will be anxious to see if the Florida eleven can conquer Boston College.

With no college football opposition, Boston College and Florida should attract 30,000 fans. The two games Boston College has played and won this Fall drew big gatherings. The price scales were attractive to the cash customers, while there is intense interest in the team coached by Frank Leahy.

A winning Boston College team would be one of the greatest box office attractions in the East. The 23,000 crowd at the Boston College-St. Joseph's game is proof of the tremendous pull the Maroon and Gold eleven has upon the fans. Let Boston College show flashes of championship form, and it will sell out Fenway Park for its important clashes.

A Boston College-Notre Dame game has always been a cherished hope of those persons who like to see big things in sports come to Boston. You could get a $5 top for such an attraction, and there wouldn't be a spot in Boston large enough to care for those persons who would like to attend the battle.

Boston College's annual game with Holy Cross takes on a new importance now that Louisiana has proved the Crusaders can be beaten. When the season opened, it was felt that Holy Cross would win from Boston College once more this Fall. Now the result of this classic is very much in doubt. If Boston College can keep improving, it will have an even chance of winning from Holy Cross.

Harvard Goes West This Week

THE HARVARD schedule makers move Dick Harlow's Crimson eleven West this week for a Saturday game at Chicago with the University of Chicago. Chicago has been having its football headaches, and I look for Harvard to return home a winner.

Harvard displayed potential strength as it won from Bates. As expected, Bates didn't furnish the Crimson with a great deal of opposition. Harvard had an opportunity to use some of its new players, and they displayed flashes of good form. The Chicago game will give Harvard more chances to build for the clashes with Pennsylvania, Dartmouth and the Army which will give a real test to its football mettle.

The Harvard eleven will receive a rousing reception in Chicago from Harvard graduates who live in the Mid-West.

Brass Monkey and Race Track Sentiment

THERE IS STILL plenty of sentiment at the race track as was proven when eleven-year-old Brass Monkey set a new record for a mile and a half race at Rockingham Park on Saturday. The famous campaigner covered the distance in 2:37 which was a second faster than the former record held by Little Banner.

The crowd cheered frantically when Brass Monkey moved into the lead just before reaching the head of the stretch. Even those persons who had wagered on Kiev's Pennant, the favorite, and other horses in the race joined in the salute to Miss L. C. White's honest old thoroughbred.

The cheering increased in volume as Brass Monkey crossed the finish line and was brought into the winner's circle by Jockey M. Berger. It was a tribute to a grand horse who always gives his best. If people associated with racing give as much to the sport as Brass Monkey has, they will not have to worry about the future of the turf game.

It is our wish that Brass Monkey continues to compete in races as long as he wishes to, and when he finds he cannot run to victory any more that he be retired to a green pasture where he can dream of his former triumphs in peace and comfort. I know Miss White is very fond and proud of Brass Monkey, and that she will always see that this fine animal is well cared for.

ALABAMA SITS ATOP GRID PEAK

By International News Service

A clear mark ahead of the national gridiron mighties today dashed the Crimson Tide of Alabama, seizing leadership temporarily at least by blacking out the Fordham Ram, reckoned the East's toughest hombre in pre-season musings.

Though the Crimson Tide engulfed the Ram only by a single point, 'Bama superiority was more evident than the final tabulation would appear to indicate.

RAMS NEED WORK

Fordham's inefficiency showed need of more work, while 'Bama had finesse and power to make any football club in the country pause in worriment.

The Titans from Tuscaloosa can relax next Saturday with Mercer, but the following week finds 'Bama mixing it with another Tennessee, one of the favorites for the national high-chair in a brawl that should give off more sparks than an anvil.

Of its worthy accomplishments were produced by Duke, Oklahoma, Nebraska, Southern California, Notre Dame, Iowa, Kentucky and Pittsburgh.

Duke, the South's export to the Rose Bowl last year, was a fancy Dan in routing Colgate; Oklahoma won Northwestern, despite the pinwheel stunts of Soph Back Billy De Correvont; Nebraska overpowered Minnesota, 1938 Big Ten Boss; Southern California whipped into title stride as it smashed Washington State and harried Notre Dame nipped Georgia Tech.

Iowa toppled Indiana in a high-scoring thriller, Kentucky kayoed a Vanderbilt gang that a week ago tumbled Rice; and Pittsburgh, discounted before the campaign because of graduation and a change in coaches, kept clicking for new mentor Chirley Bowser by spilling West Virginia.

BULLDOGS LUCKY

Arkansas scuttled Texas Christian, Texas trounced Wisconsin, Furman pummeled Georgia and Centre smothered clipped Army, fading in the fourth period, 9-6. Certain cruel humorists claim in Chicago's 12-2 verdict over Wabash was an upset.

A spyglass on the Eastern Front: Yale outlucked Columbia, Carnegie Tech took Temple, Navy snared Virginia; Cornell peeled the Syracuse Orange; Brown bombarded Amherst; Dartmouth drilled Hampden-Sydney; Penn erased Lafayette; Princeton gobbled Williams; Penn State flattened Bucknell and Villanova crushed South Carolina.

Reds Blasted for Flop Near Finish of Series

Sox, was the hitting star of the first two games. The other, Charlie "King Kong" Keller, was in the limelight from start to finish to emerge as the outstanding player of the Series and the author of the most sensational freshman saga in the history of the classic.

KELLER RUNS WILD

"King Kong," but a couple of years out of college, tripled and scored the winning run of the first game. In the second tilt he helped himself to a double and singled.

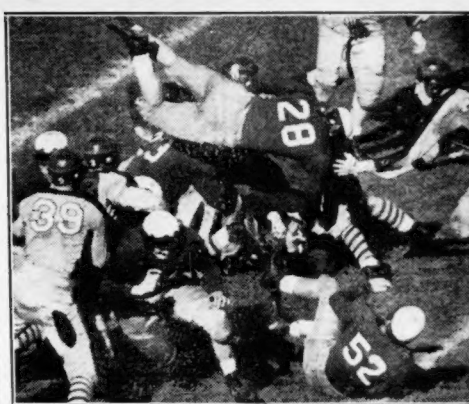

In Cincinnati he ran wild. Two home runs, three runs scored and four runs batted in on Saturday. A home run, a single and three runs scored on Sunday.

Thus he hit .438 and led both clubs number of hits, runs, home runs, runs batted in and total bases.

Meanwhile the veteran series heroes of the New Yorkers were following the even tenor of their ways.

Bill Dickey drove in the winning marker in the opener, hit Saturday and Sunday home runs and gave further proof back of the bat, though none was needed, that he's the greatest receiver and smartest hand of pitchers of all time.

Joe Egan was first choice to be the Series star before it opened,

HE FLIES THROUGH THE AIR—Halfback Seymour of Yale, bright light in the Elis' surprise win over Columbia, goes over the top of the Lion line for a five-yard gain in the Bowl. Yale won, 10 to 7, marking itself a real Ivy League title threat.

Berger, Lombardi Share Goat Honors With Craft

EN ROUTE TO NEW YORK, Oct. 9 (AP)—The hilarious New York Yankees celebrated their fourth straight world baseball championship well past the regular-season curfew this morning, but Manager Joe McCarthy took time out to register a "beef."

Joe, it seems, wasn't altogether pleased over the fact that some of the folks saw two sides to the Yankees' sweep of the just-ended World Series.

He believes too much emphasis is being placed on the collapse of the Cincinnati Reds rather than the greatness of his hired hands.

So, while the players paraded up and down the cars of the train, bearing their "roll out the barrel; we've got the Reds on the run" theme song, Joe rose to inquire.

"Why is everybody saying the Reds split wide open to blow the series? Why not admit the greatness of the Yankees under fire?"

"After all, the Reds were the best in the National League. They were supposed to be plenty hot. And with two pitchers like Paul Derringer and Buckly Walters they figured to make it tough as hell. So what? So we beat 'em four straight. 2 Doesn't that prove anything?"

As usual, the customary "hero argued and ironed out most of the night. There wasn't a single dissenting voice in selecting young Charley Keller, the rookie right fielder and ex-dayman from Maryland, as the outstanding "hero" of the Yanks' sweep.

About the goat, there was more argument. Most of the boys pinned the tag on Wally Berger, who went to bat 15 times without a hit, fanned four times, and left eight men on base. In addition, his throw-in of a ball was partly responsible for the first game loss, and his handling of Keller's two-bagger, which bounced off his glove in the second game, didn't help any.

Harry Craft, the center fielder, who fanned six times, also had some "supporters."

But one and all agreed Ernie Lombardi's little nap on home plate in the finale was the correct comedy touch. All it needed was music to put in on the big-time circus.

Reading Templars Hold Sports Night

The Reading Commandery, Knights Templars, are holding a "Sports Night" this evening, at 8:30 p. m. in Masonic hall, Reading 99. The feature is the showing of the picture "Century of Baseball," and a golf picture will also be shown.

The committee is composed of Charles S. Hasty, chairman, Gordon H. Allen, Charles F. Cushing, Logan R. Dickie and George W. S. Poole.

Columbus Cap Features Week At Old Rock

SALEM, N. H., Oct. 9.—Rockingham Park, with three weeks of splendid racing in back of it, goes swinging now into the fourth and biggest week of its five-week autumn meeting with the Columbus Day Handicap as the feature attraction of the week.

The holiday card is expected to attract a crowd of more than 30,000 to New England's oldest race track, and break all 1939 records for both attendance and mutual handle, and a racing secretary Charles McLennan, whose program of last Saturday was the finest offering of the season, hopes to outdo himself on Thursday.

SPRING HANDICAP
 The Columbus Day Handicap will be a sprint affair over the regulation six furlongs course, and with a score of outstanding speed horses on the grounds, the field of 10 or a dozen seems certain of producing the post. Nominations for the race will not close until Tuesday. Some of the sprinters took their last "prep" on Saturday in the Lowell Handicap, when Dunado, Zoiz, Many Stings, Short Cake, Cardinalis, Listaro and Propp went to the post.

One of the Coast's outstanding sprinters—Sweet Patrice and Leading Article—are also on the grounds, along with Mucho Gusto. The "Big Gus" of Narragansett came, and out of this group should come one of the finest speed battles of the entire season.

The Rockingham racing-strip is at its superlative best, faster than it has been in two years, and though Clingendaal's track record of 1:10 seems safe for another year, it is expected that the mark of 1:11, fastest time of this year, will be erased from the books.

Death

struck suddenly for this Polish woman villager when German planes rained bombs on her home. She got as far as the door and there gasped out her life amid her own blood. This picture was taken by Frank Muto, International News photographer. International News Photo is thing of the past here as Polish refugees find shelter in Warsaw Opera House. The only "music" they heard came from the whine of bombs. This photo was made by Julien Bryan, noted American lecturer-photographer. Copyright by Julien Bryan, released by International News Photo

Opera
